Reds Ask European Atom Control Agency

Soviet Calls For New Group To Be Formed

Organization For Peaceful Uses Would Replace Euratom

MOSCOW, July 13 (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed today a European organization to control peaceful uses of atomic energy including Communist and non-Communist nations. Both the United States and the Soviet Union would belong.

The organization would replace a West European organization now being developed, known as Euratom. This is to pool the atomic resources of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Soviet Union charged that Euratom would be a tool of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, make more permanent the division of Germany, and enable the Germans eventually to produce atomic weapons.

Discloses Proposals

The Soviet Union disclosed its proposals in a note to the embassies of the United States, Britain, France and so-called "neutral" nations, including Switzerland and Austria.

The proposal is reminiscent of the Soviet call during the Big Four summit conference in July 1955 for a general European treaty on collective security to supplant NATO. It wanted the United States invited to join the European security organization with Communist China getting observer status. The proposal drew a negative reaction from the West.

Russia has agreed with the United States and other countries to set up under United Nations auspices an international agency for the peaceful development of atomic energy. An 84-nation conference will meet in New York in September to consider a charter. Moscow failed in efforts to get Red China admitted to that meeting.

In addition, Communist countries announced last March their own atomic organization — the United Institute of Nuclear Research. The Soviet Union promised nuclear research equipment to a center to be set up in Russia.

Treaty Drafted Phrase

Euratom is in the treaty drafting phase. The French National Assembly this week approved French participation. The plan was approved in principle by the six governments in May.

West Germany, Italy, France, Britain, the Netherlands and Luxembourg are already members of a coal-steel pool. The military angle has been avoided in the proposed atomic pool, but under consideration is a treaty provision which would bar any member from exploding an atomic device for at least five years.

Pinching Tom!

DES MOINES, July 13 (AP)—A Des Moines woman complained to police today that as she was drying herself after a bath last night, someone reached through the bathroom window and between slats of a venetian blind and pinched her. She told officers the hand and arm disappeared when she screamed.

Uncle Of Weinberger Tot Says Kidnaper Is Afraid

WESBURY, N.Y., July 13 (AP) — The great-uncle of little Peter Weinberger said today he believes the baby's kidnaper is afraid to trade the child for ransom.

Said David Holman, uncle of the baby's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger:

"I don't think it's a case of money now. I'm afraid apprehension and fear on the part of the kidnaper will keep him in hiding. If any contact is made now, it will be made indirectly."

What Holman did not say, but what police have conceded, is that the kidnaper's fears could lead him to kill the 5-weeks-old child—if he has not already done so.

There has been no trace of little Peter since he was stolen from his carriage on the patio of the Weinberger home here July 4. Nassau County police and the FBI are engaged in a vast manhunt for the kidnaper.

Holman, a former assistant district attorney in Nassau County, also revealed that St. Brigid's Roman Catholic church here is being kept open 24 hours a day in hopes the kidnaper will leave the baby there.

Police have been withdrawn from the area of the church since the Weinbergers appealed to the kidnaper to leave the child in a church or synagogue.

Investigators said they plan to pump out all storm water drains in the area around the Weinberger home, in a search for either the baby's body or for any clues to his disappearance.

Foreign Aid Bill Gets Senate Hike

Committee Backs Eisenhower, Adds $700 Million To Program

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee, in a significant victory for President Eisenhower, voted today to add almost 700 million dollars to the foreign aid program.

It approved a bill which would make available $4,346,220,000 in old and new funds for foreign aid during the fiscal year which began July 1.

This is $680,300,000 more than is carried in an appropriations bill passed by the House last Wednesday—and very close to the figure Eisenhower said he would settle for.

The vote in committee was 13-8, with Democratic Sens. Russell (Ga), Chavez (NM), Ellender (La), Hill (Ala), McClellan (Ark) and Stennis (Miss) joining Republican Sens. McCarthy (Wis) and Dworshak (Idaho) in opposition to the higher figure. Eight Republicans and five Democrats voted for it.

Beats Back Efforts

Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) report the committee beat back fresh efforts to halt aid to Communist Yugoslavia and left the Yugoslav decision up to the President.

The foreign aid fight isn't finished yet, however. There will be another battle on the Senate floor next week, when the appropriations measure comes up from the committee.

But the prospects of Eisenhower getting more money for his mutual security program this year appeared to be brightening.

House leaders, hearing of the Senate committee's action, predicted that the House and Senate would finally compromise on an appropriation of at least $3,700,000,000.

While this would be somewhat more than the House voted Wednesday, it would fall approximately $1,300,000,000 short of what the President asked for when he presented his program to Congress in the spring.

Military Assistance

The major part of this year's foreign aid program is planned as military assistance to strengthen foreign nations against Communist expansion. But there is also some economic aid included.

Voting for more money were Democratic Sens. Robertson (Va), Holland, (Fla), Clements (Ky), Johnson (Texas) and Hayden (Ariz), and Republican Sens. Bridges (NH), Saltonstall (Mass), Knowland (Calif), Thye (Minn), Mundt (SD), Smith (Maine), Dirksen (Ill) and Potter (Mich).

Hayden said the bill will be called up in the Senate for floor action Tuesday or Wednesday.

The committee did reduce from approximately 22 million dollars to 17½ million the amount of defense support for Yugoslavia.

Falls Six Stories, Worker Is Unhurt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 13 (AP)—Charles Downs, employed on a skyscraper construction project, fell from the 32nd to the 26th floor today down an elevator shaft and walked away unhurt.

He said his arm "went through something" as he reached the 26th floor and checked his drop. Fellow workers said he probably caught a cable.

U.S. To Propose New Arms Cut To Russians

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen, speaking with the sanction of President Eisenhower, disclosed today that the United States is shaping new proposals in an effort to get started on arms cut agreements with Russia.

He called on the Soviets to join with the United States and its Western Allies as "partners for peace" in continuing disarmament negotiations within the United Nations. Russia has described as futile the work of a U. N. subcommittee dealing with the problem.

At the same time Stassen made clear that the United States does not consider that Soviet acceptance yesterday of Western proposals for ceilings on great power armed force levels goes far enough. He said that the Soviet action carries negotiations a "small step" forward but that any first-stage agreement for military cutbacks must provide an "adequate aerial inspection system," according to present U. S. thinking.

"This government," Stassen told a news conference, "has not been able to see how an agreement to reduce manpower levels without an agreement for aerial inspection would advance the interests of peace—but we always re-examine every proposal put forword."

In this way he assured the Soviets that their position, as stated by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a meeting of the U. N. Disarmament Commission in New York yesterday, would receive full consideration here.

Other officials, dealing with another phase of the present Russian diplomatic move, said the United States would also carefully examine a Soviet proposal made in Moscow today for a European organization to promote the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The Russian atoms-for-peace proposition was put forward as a counter to a Western European proposal for an organization called "Euratom." The Russians said that both the Soviet Union and the United States could participate in the atomic grouping proposed by Moscow.

Cypriots Turn Down Offer

NICOSIA, Cyprus, July 13 (AP)—Greek Cypriot leaders rejected today Britain's bid for cooperation in developing self-government for Cyprus. They insisted they first must have guarantees of the right to decide whether they want to join this island colony ith Greece.

The Ethnarchy Office, which speaks for most of the 400,000 Greek Cypriots, declared that only exiled Archbishop Makarios can negotiate a settlement of the Cyprus issue, and emphasized he already has made self-determination a prime condition.

In a statement, the Ethnarchy Office said Prime Minister Eden's announcement yesterday that Britain will press plans for self-government was received with "great resentment" by Greek Cypriots. Eden did not mention self-determination.

The Ethnarchy Office is a six-member inner cabinet of the island's Ethnarchy Assembly, consisting of more than 400 Greek Orthodox Church and lay represenatives. In the absence of Archbishop Makarios, who is the ethnarch—political and religious leader—the Ethnarchy Office is made up of five lay leaders and the Bishop of Kitium, the acting ethnarch.

Cypriots of Turkish descent, numbering about 100,000, oppose the move for union with Greece. They want the island returned to Turkey if British rule is ended.

Tito, Nasser Plan Talks With India's Nehru

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia July 13 (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia and President Nasser of Egypt today laid the groundwork for their "third force" conference with Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

A communique issued after the opening talks between the two presidents said "a list of questions was drafted" which will be presented to Nehru as the proposed topics for the three-power parley beginning July 19 at Brioni, Tito's island resort in the Adriatic.

Tito, Nasser and Nehru are all leading exponents of varying degrees of the neutral or independent position between the East and West. It was believed their conference may produce a new initiative by the three countries to constitute and coordinate a "third force" to play a powerful middle role among the nations still uncommitted to either of the big blocs.

It appeared that the Middle East situation ranks as one of the most important issues in the talks here and at Brioni. It was certain that the Algerian problem would be discussed and that the Cyprus issue likely would be taken up as well.

The communique said "an exchange of opinions on the international situation took place and mutual relations between Yugoslavia and Egypt were discussed." It added that the talks were "very cordial, friendly and open." The Tito-Nasser talks will continue for two more days, the announcement said.

In a toast at the formal lunch at the governmental palace, Tito declared "peace and prosperity in the Middle East area, as well as everywhere else, can be secured only if the principle is adopted that peoples shall be masters in their own countries."

The indictments resulted from a campaign launched a while ago by Anselm Sodaro, state's attorney.

In the auto dealer cases, the charges deal with advertising concerning down payments and advertised articles being unavailable. Other cases involved alleged misrepresentation as to models advertised and availability.

Military Transport Crashes, 45 Dead

FT. DIX, N.J., July 13 (AP) — A military transport plane, taking off from rainswept McGuire Air Force Base, crashed in a swampy pine forest today, killing at least 45 persons, two of them children. twenty-one others were injured.

An airman aboard, one of the least injured survivors, said the four-engine C118 hit an air pocket and split as it landed on its belly. The big plane did not burn.

Lt. Col. Pedro M. Souza, an Army doctor, blamed most of the deaths on fractures. He said all the passengers had not released themselves from safety belts.

Airman Albert J. Buck, a survivor who suffered a fractured ankle, told an Army doctor—Lt. Col. Horace W. Doty—that the plane hit an air pocket just as it left the runway at McGuire, 30 miles south of Trenton.

Maj. Huly Bray, information services officer, said some of the survivors were so badly injured that they were not expected to live until morning.

The plane, bound for Burtonwood, England, carried a crew of 10 and its 56 passengers included 41 airmen, 9 officers, and 6 civilians, including 2 children.

The big craft had lost radio contact with the field, and the crash was not discovered for several hours after it occurred about 4 p.m. Search parties had been sent out only on suspicion of a mishap.

The Military Air Transport Service said in Washington today's crash of a C118, known as the Douglas Liftmaster, was the first fatal accident suffered in five years of operating such craft.

The plane smashed into a pine forest three miles from the end of the runway and scattered wreckage over a half-mile area. It did not burn.

The report of the air pocket came from Lt. Col. Horace W. Doty, chief of professional services at Ft. Dix Hospital, who interviewed an unidentified airman. The survivor gave no further details.

The wreckage apparently was sighted first from the air and ground rescue parties were rushed to the scene.

Lightning, storm and blinding rain turned the scene into a quagmire.

Military ambulances, buses and trucks were dispatched to the area from here and McGuire.

Companies of foot soldiers, carrying axes, entrenching tools, and other gear, waded knee and hip deep through swamp water to get to the site.

Bulldozers were used to clear a path to the wreckage for doctors and nurses.

The plane had cut its own swath through the pine trees, smashed apart and rolled on its side. Parts of the ship, including wings, motors and other metal parts were scattered back through the woods for a half-mile.

Presley Signed For Three Shows By Ed Sullivan

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) — Ed Sullivan announced today he had signed rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley on the "Ed Sullivan Show."

The singing idol of the teen-age set will receive $50,000 for three appearances, CBS said. His first appearance will be Sept. 9 and and the other two will be at approximately eight-week intervals.

A recent appearance of Presley with Milton Berle drew criticism because of his interpretative action. A subsequent appearance on the Steve Allen show, an NBC program opposite Sullivan on Sunday nights, drew comment because he was so subdued.

Sullivan said he never had seen the singer perform until the other night when he watched a kinescope of the Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey show and saw nothing objectionable about Presley's appearance with them. A CBS spokesman said Presley would not be under wraps on the Sullivan program.

President To Leave For Panama July 20

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 13 (AP)—Presidential press secretary James Hagerty said today President Eisenhower will leave Washington the night of July 2 for Panama to attend the meeting of American presidents on July 21 and 22.

Hoffman Picked As UN Delegate

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower, ignoring a protest by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), today picked industrialist Paul G. Hoffman as a member of the American delegation to the U. N. General Assembly.

Eisenhower sent the nomination of Hoffman and other delegation members to the Senate for confirmation less than 48 hours after McCarthy had told the Senate Hoffman has been making statements which "could only be made by a fool or a Communist."

In a sort of "Who cares," tone, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that "Yeah, we read it."

Also named to the U. N. delegation was Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California. A reporter noted that Knowland has differed from Eisenhower "to a considerable degree" on foreign policy and said the senator is considered more isolationist than the administration.

The newsman asked whether any intraparty politics was involved in the Knowland appointment.

Hagerty said he didn't accept his questioner's words, as "I do not think Sen. Knowland is an isolationist." He added: "On the rest of your question, I have no comment."

Violence Breaks Out In Terminal Island Prison

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 13 (AP)—Violence broke out today in the federal prison on Terminal Island, leaving one prisoner dead of stab wounds.

Warden Preston G. Smith, said the victim was Ted Sumpter, 30, originally of Chico, Calif., whose skull had been fractured by a club.

The FBI began questioning the 12 prisoners who were in the carpenter shop at the time of the killing.

Sumpter was serving an 18-month sentence for car theft. He was convicted in Gulfport, Miss., and sentenced last March 8. He was transferred from the federal facility at Texarkana, Tex., last June 10.

Steel Confab Recesses, No Change Seen

PITTSBURGH, July 13 (AP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald reported "no change whatever" as steel contract negotiators today recessed until Monday their efforts to end the 13-day-old nationwide steel strike.

Immediately after the two-hour negotiating session—the second in two days since government mediators intervened—industry representatives conferred privately with the government group. That meeting lasted an hour.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the industry negotiators gave him a report on their meeting with the union. He said "it would be unwise to comment" on the report "at this time."

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel Corp. vice president and chief industry negotiator, told newsmen he was not at liberty to comment on the union-management meeting. He did not meet reporters after talking with Finnegan. Stephens requested the meeting with Finnegan.

Finnegan said the strike of 650,000 basic steel workers is a "serious threat to the nation's economy." But he added he did not consider it a matter that would require a personal report to President Eisenhower at this time. He added:

"I can't discount the seriousness of a strike in this basic industry and its great impact on the economy. The full repercussions have not yet been evidenced but will become evident if the strike continues."

The strike has spread unemployment to nearly 75,000 employes in steel-related industries. The railroads and workers in steel-owned coal mines are the hardest hit.

The nation's steel inventory was reported large enough to last from 30 to 90 days when the strike began. But several special items needed in building construction and the oil industry were reported in short supply.

Finnegan and his aides returned to Washington after the meetings, but said they will be back Monday.

Anti-Reds Overpower Ship's Crew

Passengers Take Over In Wild Gun Battle, Fly To West Germany

INGOLSTADT, Germany, July 13 (AP)—Eight anti-Communist passengers of a twin-engine Hungarian airliner seized the plane today in a midair gun battle with the pro-Communist crew.

They then flew it to a crash-landing in West Germany.

It was flown to the free West by a pilot among the passengers.

German police said at least 12 persons—including passengers and crewmen—were injured in the battle for control of the plane. The fight lasted even after it skidded to a stop on an American Air Force airfield near here.

Was Former Pilot

Police reported one of the anti-Communist passengers was a former pilot, who landed the airliner at Manching Airfield.

The pro-Red pilot, who tried to scare the revolting passengers by a dangerous series of loops, was eventually forced from his seat at gunpoint, police said.

The dramatic capture of the airliner in flight took place in early evening as the plane was en route from Budapest to an unknown destination.

Although German police could not confirm it immediately, the seizure of the plane appeared to have been well-organized.

It was not the first time that anti-Communists have sought this method to flee from behind the Iron Curtain.

In 1953, four anti-Communist Czechs—one a woman—slugged the radio operator of a Czech airliner and landed it in Frankfurt, West Germany.

German police said eight passengers of today's plane asked for political asylum in the West.

Carried 15 Passengers

The freedom plane carried 15 passengers and a crew of 5. The 12 persons injured—7 of them were hit by flying bullets in the midair struggle—were all taken to a German hospital for treatment.

Police gave this account of the latest eurption of unrest behind the Iron Curtain:

The state-owned Hungarian airliner took off on a flight from Budapest, the Hungarian capital.

Once aloft, the anti-Communist Hungarians moved on the crew. In the group were a businessman, engineers and the former pilot.

A Red police lieutenant was overpowered. A pistol was taken from him by one of the passengers. Some shots were fired.

The other passengers were neutral and sat frozen in their seats.

The airliner pilot tried to balk the aerial coup by putting the plane into loops. Some of the passengers were injured when the plane went into its violent maneuvers.

The looping failed to stop the battle. The crew was overpowered. The Communist pilot was forced from the controls at pistol point. Then the anti-Communist former pilot took over.

Manpower Needs Now Can Be Cut, Joint Chiefs Say

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said today, "It is possible that manpower requirements for future security of the United States can ultimately be lower because of the introduction of new weapons."

The chairman, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, did not say how great the cut in the military forces might be.

The New York Times said today that the chiefs of the Army, Navy and Air Force are in "revolt" against a Radford proposal to slash U.S. armed forces by about 800,000 men by 1960.

Radford refused to comment on the "revolt" report, but said:

"The individual who attributes certain definite views to the chairman is anticipating conclusions which the chairman himself has not reached."

In a statement issued hours later, with Secretary of Defense Wilson's approval, Radford commented:

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff have not been relieved of the annual requirement to advise on the pattern of military forces in the foreseeable future and their studies will continue until they are able to present their best advice to the secretary of defense.

"This may or may not be a unanimous recommendation."

Wilson affirmed that he had "read and approved" Radford's statement.

There was no comment from the chiefs of staff. They are Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, Navy; and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force.

Wilson, in addition to saying he had approved Radford's statement, in a letter dated July 3 to Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) referring to "rumors" reported by Mahon that the armed forces were to be reduced.

Reaction in Congress was generally marked by a tendency to hold back until the facts become clearer.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said that if an 800,000-man cut had been proposed "I won't go along with [illegible] so much."

Vinson and Mahon said they doubted that Radford had actually recommended a cut of 800,000 men by 1960. They cited testimony by the Joint Chiefs chairman that the armed forces must be kept at the 2,850,000 level for a number of years.

Military Transport Crashes, 45 Dead

FT. DIX, N.J., July 13 (AP) — A military transport plane, taking off from rainswept McGuire Air Force Base, crashed in a swampy pine forest today, killing at least 45 persons, two of them children. twenty-one others were injured.

An airman aboard, one of the least injured survivors, said the four-engine C118 hit an air pocket and split as it landed on its belly. The big plane did not burn.

Lt. Col. Pedro M. Souza, an Army doctor, blamed most of the deaths on fractures. He said all the passengers had not released themselves from safety belts.

Airman Albert J. Buck, a survivor who suffered a fractured ankle, told an Army doctor—Lt. Col. Horace W. Doty—that the plane hit an air pocket just as it left the runway at McGuire, 30 miles south of Trenton.

Maj. Huly Bray, information services officer, said some of the survivors were so badly injured that they were not expected to live until morning.

The plane, bound for Burtonwood, England, carried a crew of 10 and its 56 passengers included 41 airmen, 9 officers, and 6 civilians, including 2 children.

The big craft had lost radio contact with the field, and the crash was not discovered for several hours after it occurred about 4 p.m. Search parties had been sent out only on suspicion of a mishap.

The Military Air Transport Service said in Washington today's crash of a C118, known as the Douglas Liftmaster, was the first fatal accident suffered in five years of operating such craft.

The plane smashed into a pine forest three miles from the end of the runway and scattered wreckage over a half-mile area. It did not burn.

The report of the air pocket came from Lt. Col. Horace W. Doty, chief of professional services at Ft. Dix Hospital, who interviewed an unidentified airman. The survivor gave no further details.

The wreckage apparently was sighted first from the air and ground rescue parties were rushed to the scene.

Lightning, storm and blinding rain turned the scene into a quagmire.

Military ambulances, buses and trucks were dispatched to the area from here and McGuire.

Bulldozers were used to clear a path to the wreckage for doctors and nurses.

The plane had cut its own swath through the pine trees, smashed apart and rolled on its side. Parts of the ship, including wings, motors and other metal parts were scattered back through the woods for a half-mile.

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) — Ed Sullivan announced today he had signed rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley on the "Ed Sullivan Show."

The singing idol of the teen-age set will receive $50,000 for three appearances, CBS said. His first appearance will be Sept. 9 and and the other two will be at approximately eight-week intervals.

A recent appearance of Presley with Milton Berle drew criticism because of his interpretative action. A subsequent appearance on the Steve Allen show, an NBC program opposite Sullivan on Sunday nights, drew comment because he was so subdued.

Sullivan said he never had seen the singer perform until the other night when he watched a kinescope of the Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey show and saw nothing objectionable about Presley's appearance with them. A CBS spokesman said Presley would not be under wraps on the Sullivan program.

President To Leave For Panama July 20

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 13 (AP)—Presidential press secretary James Hagerty said today President Eisenhower will leave Washington the night of July 2 for Panama to attend the meeting of American presidents on July 21 and 22.

Hoffman Picked As UN Delegate

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower, ignoring a protest by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), today picked industrialist Paul G. Hoffman as a member of the American delegation to the U. N. General Assembly.

Eisenhower sent the nomination of Hoffman and other delegation members to the Senate for confirmation less than 48 hours after McCarthy had told the Senate Hoffman has been making statements which "could only be made by a fool or a Communist."

In a sort of "Who cares," tone, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that "Yeah, we read it."

Also named to the U. N. delegation was Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California. A reporter noted that Knowland has differed from Eisenhower "to a considerable degree" on foreign policy and said the senator is considered more isolationist than the administration.

The newsman asked whether any intraparty politics was involved in the Knowland appointment.

Hagerty said he didn't accept his questioner's words, as "I do not think Sen. Knowland is an isolationist." He added: "On the rest of your question, I have no comment."

Violence Breaks Out In Terminal Island Prison

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 13 (AP)—Violence broke out today in the federal prison on Terminal Island, leaving one prisoner dead of stab wounds.

Warden Preston G. Smith, said the victim was Ted Sumpter, 30, originally of Chico, Calif., whose skull had been fractured by a club.

The FBI began questioning the 12 prisoners who were in the carpenter shop at the time of the killing.

Sumpter was serving an 18-month sentence for car theft. He was convicted in Gulfport, Miss., and sentenced last March 8. He was transferred from the federal facility at Texarkana, Tex., last June 10.

Steel Confab Recesses, No Change Seen

PITTSBURGH, July 13 (AP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald reported "no change whatever" as steel contract negotiators today recessed until Monday their efforts to end the 13-day-old nationwide steel strike.

Immediately after the two-hour negotiating session—the second in two days since government mediators intervened—industry representatives conferred privately with the government group. That meeting lasted an hour.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the industry negotiators gave him a report on their meeting with the union. He said "it would be unwise to comment" on the report "at this time."

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel Corp. vice president and chief industry negotiator, told newsmen he was not at liberty to comment on the union-management meeting. He did not meet reporters after talking with Finnegan. Stephens requested the meeting with Finnegan.

Finnegan said the strike of 650,000 basic steel workers is a "serious threat to the nation's economy." But he added he did not consider it a matter that would require a personal report to President Eisenhower at this time. He added:

"I can't discount the seriousness of a strike in this basic industry and its great impact on the economy. The full repercussions have not yet been evidenced but will become evident if the strike continues."

The strike has spread unemployment to nearly 75,000 employes in steel-related industries. The railroads and workers in steel-owned coal mines are the hardest hit.

The nation's steel inventory was reported large enough to last from 30 to 90 days when the strike began. But several special items needed in building construction and the oil industry were reported in short supply.

Finnegan and his aides returned to Washington after the meetings, but said they will be back Monday.

Anti-Reds Overpower Ship's Crew

Passengers Take Over In Wild Gun Battle, Fly To West Germany

INGOLSTADT, Germany, July 13 (AP)—Eight anti-Communist passengers of a twin-engine Hungarian airliner seized the plane today in a midair gun battle with the pro-Communist crew.

They then flew it to a crash-landing in West Germany.

It was flown to the free West by a pilot among the passengers.

German police said at least 12 persons—including passengers and crewmen—were injured in the battle for control of the plane. The fight lasted even after it skidded to a stop on an American Air Force airfield near here.

Was Former Pilot

Police reported one of the anti-Communist passengers was a former pilot, who landed the airliner at Manching Airfield.

The pro-Red pilot, who tried to scare the revolting passengers by a dangerous series of loops, was eventually forced from his seat at gunpoint, police said.

The dramatic capture of the airliner in flight took place in early evening as the plane was en route from Budapest to an unknown destination.

Although German police could not confirm it immediately, the seizure of the plane appeared to have been well-organized.

It was not the first time that anti-Communists have sought this method to flee from behind the Iron Curtain.

In 1953, four anti-Communist Czechs—one a woman—slugged the radio operator of a Czech airliner and landed it in Frankfurt, West Germany.

German police said eight passengers of today's plane asked for political asylum in the West.

Carried 15 Passengers

The freedom plane carried 15 passengers and a crew of 5. The 12 persons injured—7 of them were hit by flying bullets in the midair struggle—were all taken to a German hospital for treatment.

Police gave this account of the latest eurption of unrest behind the Iron Curtain:

The state-owned Hungarian airliner took off on a flight from Budapest, the Hungarian capital.

Once aloft, the anti-Communist Hungarians moved on the crew. In the group were a businessman, engineers and the former pilot.

A Red police lieutenant was overpowered. A pistol was taken from him by one of the passengers. Some shots were fired.

The other passengers were neutral and sat frozen in their seats.

The airliner pilot tried to balk the aerial coup by putting the plane into loops. Some of the passengers were injured when the plane went into its violent maneuvers.

The looping failed to stop the battle. The crew was overpowered. The Communist pilot was forced from the controls at pistol point. Then the anti-Communist former pilot took over.

Flew Across Bavaria

The passsenger pilot flew the plane across upper Bavaria to this city 150 miles from the Hungarian

Manpower Needs Now Can Be Cut, Joint Chiefs Say

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said today, "It is possible that manpower requirements for future security of the United States can ultimately be lower because of the introduction of new weapons."

The chairman, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, did not say how great the cut in the military forces might be.

The New York Times said today that the chiefs of the Army, Navy and Air Force are in "revolt" against a Radford proposal to slash U.S. armed forces by about 800,000 men by 1960.

Radford refused to comment on the "revolt" report, but said:

"The individual who attributes certain definite views to the chairman is anticipating conclusions which the chairman himself has not reached."

In a statement issued hours later, with Secretary of Defense Wilson's approval, Radford commented:

"The Joint Chiefs of Staff have not been relieved of the annual requirement to advise on the pattern of military forces in the foreseeable future and their studies will continue until they are able to present their best advice to the secretary of defense.

"This may or may not be a unanimous recommendation."

Wilson affirmed that he had "read and approved" Radford's statement.

There was no comment from the chiefs of staff. They are Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, Navy; and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force.

Wilson, in addition to saying he had approved Radford's statement, released a letter dated July 3 to Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) referring to "rumors" reported by Mahon that the armed forces were to be reduced.

Reaction in Congress was generally marked by a tendency to hold back until the facts become clearer.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said that if an 800,000-man cut has been proposed "I won't go along with it—it would weaken us too much."

Vinson and Mahon said they doubted that Radford had actually recommended a cut of 800,000 men by 1960. They cited testimony by the Joint Chiefs chairman that the armed forces must be kept at the 2,850,000 level for a number of years.

Pinching Tom!

Falls Six Stories, Worker Is Unhurt

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 13 (AP)—Charles Downs, employed on a skyscraper construction project, fell from the 32nd to the 26th floor today down an elevator shaft and walked away unhurt.

He said his arm "went through something" as he reached the 26th floor and checked his drop. Fellow workers said he probably caught a cable.

Uncle Of Weinberger Tot Says Kidnaper Is Afraid

WESBURY, N.Y., July 13 (AP) — The great-uncle of little Peter Weinberger said today he believes the baby's kidnaper is afraid to trade the child for ransom.

Said David Holman, uncle of the baby's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger:

"I don't think it's a case of money now. I'm afraid apprehension and fear on the part of the kidnaper will keep him in hiding. If any contact is made now, it will be made indirectly."

What Holman did not say, but what police have conceded, is that the kidnaper's fears could lead him to kill the 5-weeks-old child—if he has not already done so.

There has been no trace of little Peter since he was stolen from his carriage on the patio of the Weinberger home here July 4. Nassau County police and the FBI are engaged in a vast manhunt for the kidnaper.

Holman, a former assistant district attorney in Nassau County, also revealed that St. Brigid's Roman Catholic church here is being kept open 24 hours a day in hopes the kidnaper will leave the baby there.

Police have been withdrawn from the area of the church since the Weinbergers appealed to the kidnaper to leave the child in a church or synagogue.

Investigators said they plan to pump out all storm water drains in the area around the Weinberger home, in a search for either the baby's body or for any clues to his disappearance.

State Appeals Court Rules Against Censor

ANNAPOLIS, July 13 (AP)—Maryland movie censors today lost their court fight with United Artists Corp. over cutting a two-minute scene from "the Man with the Golden Arm."

The Court of Appeals ruled that the scene, showing actor Frank Sinatra taking a narcotic injection, does not "teach and advocate" the use of narcotics and therefore is not in conflict with the state's revised movie censorship law.

"On the contrary, the evidence is strong and convincing that the picture is likely to have a beneficial effect as a deterrent from the use of narcotics," the court said in a 20-page opinion.

The action, reversing a Baltimore City court decision, was the first legal test in the Court of Appeals of Maryland's movie censorship law since it was rewritten by the 1955 Legislature to comply with a Supreme Court decision.

The court said it was unnecessary to rule on the constitutionality of the law since it held it had been misapplied.

The revamped law bans movies which are obscene or which tend to incite crime or corrupt morals.

Included in the legislative definition of inciting to crime is any movie or scene of movie which "advocates or teaches the use of, or the methods of use of, narcotics or habit-forming drugs."

Acting under this section, Chief Censor C. Morton Goldstein ordered snipped from a the movie a scene showing Frankie Machine, played by Frank Sinatra, taking a narcotic after six months in a federal hospital for addicts.

The court noted that the scene showed him preparing to take the drug, administered by another person, and although it did not show the actual injection it showed the needle being removed from his arm.

Goldstein argued that the scene "teaches" the use of, or methods of use of, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. The court opinion said, however, that Goldstein "admitted that the board did not consider whether the scene 'advocates' such use or methods of use."

The court said the statute is directed at advocacy of drugs, "not discussion."

It noted that the movie had been praised by scientists and educators as preaching against narcotics and the producer's argument that the scene in question was a "climax" to its sermon.

The suit against the State Board of Censors was brought by United Artists as the producer, and Carlyle Productions, Inc., as distributor of the movie.

They had argued that the scene had not been deleted in any other state but Maryland and had also been shown in its entirety in Europe.

SRC Freezes Land Values

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—The State Roads Commission froze the values today on land it wants for widening of U.S. 240 in its first legal action to prevent speculation.

The values on 73 properties will be forzen for one year. A law authorizing such state action went into effect June 1.

It was enacted after land speculations in advance of purchase by the commission was reported last year.

Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general for the commission, and William B. Wheeler, Montgomery County counsel, gave checks to Court Clerk Clayton K. Watkins for $636,000.

That is what the commission thinks the properties are worth. If the owners feel they are worth more, the roads commission will negotiate for as long as six months. After that, dissatisfied owners may appeal to a new Board of Property Review and to a court.

Buscher said the new law "adequately protects the rights of property owners while at the same time speeding up road improvements and preventing speculation."

All of the frozen land is on U.S. 240 from Rockville to Rock Creek Parkway just north of Bethesda.

A fourth lane is to be added to the route.

Secretary Testifies At Murder Trial

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—The secretary of a slain Army officer testified in Federal Court today that he had asked her to marry him the day before he was shot to death.

Miss Dorothy Dwyer, 19, of Bel Air, Md., was among the first defense witnesses in the trial of Mrs. Victoria A. Johnson. The 35-year-old mother of three is charged with murder in the death of her husband, 1st Lt. Eugene C. Johnson, 30.

As the defense opened its case, Mrs. Johnson's attorney told the jury she had bought the death gun intending to shoot herself. But when her husband told her he wanted a divorce, she "went black" and shot him, said Attorney D. Paul McNabb.

Man Shoot Up Neighbor's Home In TV Ruckus

SPEKE, England, July 13 (AP)—Jack Pugh couldn't see his TV screen—so he took a pistol and shot up his neighbor, the neighbor's wife, and their TV set, police charged today. Pugh, 50, was held on a charge of attempting to murder Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Morrison.

"I acted under great provocation," police quoted him as saying in a statement. "He (Morrison) is an evil man."

Police said Pugh had complained about a faulty switch in the Morrison's house which interfered with his radio and TV set.

"At 9:30 last night," said Prosecutor E. V. Renshaw, "he armed himself with a .38 revolver and went round to the Morrison's home in an irate mood."

He got no answer from the Morrisons—who were watching their own TV—so he fired four bullets through the front window, wounding Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and hitting their TV set. Then he went around and fired through the kitchen door.

Residents Fight Plan For Dump In Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, July 13 (AP) — A group of residents of the nearby Huyetts area said today they'll go to Gov. McKeldin with their fight against a dump Hagerstown wants to build in their area.

They take sharp exception to a State geologist's report and contend the dump will pollute the underground water supply.

Hagerstown has an option to buy a farm in the Huyett's section six miles west of the city. If it can get the approval of the State Health Department it plans to dispose of refuse through a sanitary land fill method.

Last May 8, six residents sent a petition to the health department objecting to the proposed dump. Each petitioner received a letter from George I. Hall, chief of the department's division of sanitary engineering. Enclosed was a copy of a report from Dr. Joseph T. Singewald Jr., director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

The residents said they disagree with a number of points in the report. They say homes are closer to the proposed dump site than the report says they are. They contend most of the petitioners' homes are in a shale belt rather than the limestone belt as they said the report lists them.

They announced they were asking the governor for an investigation.

Said Mrs. Henry S. Munson, one of the petitioners:

"The whole letter sounds like a whitewash to me. It doesn't say that our wells won't be contaminated, just that it's unlikely that they will be. That allows a loophole for Dr. Singewald and the whole State Department of Health in case they are polluted.

"But what do we do for a water supply if drainage from a dump makes our water unusable. After the city succeeds in pushing through a $14,000 solution to a $250,000 problem, it's not going to backtrack for a few county residents."

The residents have engaged attorneys and threaten to seek an injunction if the health department gives a go ahead.

Dr. Singewald, whose office is in Baltimore, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

SAC To Ready Missiles Squadron

OMAHA, July 13 (AP)—The Strategic Air Command announced today it is beginning to plan for a strategic missiles squadron which will be ready to handle long-range guided missiles "when they become operational."

The headquarters said SAC's first guided missile unit will have the job of planning for integration of the intermediate range and intercontinental missiles into the strategic force structure. Although SAC does not expect them to be in operational use for several years, the use of missiles will present new tactical and organizational problems, selection of launching sites and other advance planning.

Capehart housing is financed with private funds and amortized by military rental allowances. The government holds title to the property.

U.S. Army Heads Move To Patch Bavaria Incident

BAMBERG, Germany, July 13 (AP) — U. S. Army commanders moved quickly today to patch up strained relations with local authorities after the Bamberg City Council last night called for withdrawal of American troops from this Bavarian city.

The unprecedented demand was sparked by the alleged raping of a 15-year-old school girl by seven American soldiers. Formal charges against the seven were filed yesterday, less than 72 hours after the alleged assaults occurred.

U. S. 10th Infantry Division commander Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett came here today to make a personal investigation of the case. He met Bamberg Mayor Luitpold Weegmann to inform him of the Army's action in the case.

Col. M. N. Houston, commanding officer of the 85th Infnatry regiment, stationed here, assured Bambergers that, "In the interest of good will established here this command will continue in the concerted efforts to eliminate unfortunate incidents adversely affecting our relationship."

The Bamberg City Council also decided last night to limit official German-American relations here to the "minimum necessary" and ordered American soldiers barred from the biggest outdoors swimming pool because they were "causing a public nuisance."

A 10th Division spokesman said no American troops are confined to their barracks any longer. Army officials said last night the entire 85th Regiment had been confined to barracks immediately after the raping, and that only selected groups of soldiers were allowed to go to town on the following days. The 85th came here last November from Ft. Riley, Kan.

Army officials seemed taken aback by the City Council resolution. It was the most vehment protest in a barrage of criticism by local authorities and the West German press against what the Germans claim is an increase in Allied—and in particular American—indignities. The U. S. Army has denied there is any upward trend in the number of incidents involving GIs but added that it is "not standing on statistics."

The body, fully clothed including hip boots, was found in the river about five miles southwest of Centreville. His boat was found last night.

Compromise Suggested As Gas Rate Hearing Ends

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company has changed its proposal for a rate increase for its Maryland customers so as to lighten the burden for the consumer using gas for non-heating purposes.

Under the plan presented to the Maryland Public Service Commission Thursday in Baltimore the weight would be shifted to the heating customer.

In making the proposal company spokesmen said the firm is not compromising on the request that new rates produce a net revenue increase of $147,500 yearly. This would bring the company earnings to 6.44 per cent instead of the present 4.78 per cent.

The rates in operation call for $1.50 to be paid for the first 1,000 cubic feet and 83 cents for the next 1,000.

In its first proposal for an increase the company suggested $1.75 for the first 200 cubic feet, 85 cents per 1,000 for the next 1,800, and 73 cents per 1,000 for the next 298,000 cubic feet.

The above proposal has been changed to $1.75 for the first 1,000 cubic feet and 85 cents per 1,000 for the next 299,000 cubic feet. This would cut the proposed increase for the non-heating customer about 50 per cent and make it about 50 cents more per month than the present rate based on a 3,000-foot consumption.

The hearing in the present rate case concluded Thursday and the commission gave the company and foes to the increase until September 1 to file briefs.

ESB To Decide On Benefits For Strike Victims

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP) — The Employment Security Board will meet in about two weeks to ponder whether construction workers idled by the steel strike are eligible for unemployment compensation.

Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the board, said today "several hundred" of the 4,000 construction employes at Bethlehem Steel's big Sparrows Point plant have applied for benefits.

Striking workers are not eligible for unemployment payments, the chairman said. But workers laid off by employers because of the strike are eligible.

This year, as in 1952, the board must determine whether the construction men refused to cross the steel strikers' picket lines or whether they were called off the job by their employers.

The Court of Appeals has ruled that construction workers kept off the job because they refused to cross picket lines were not entitled to unemployment payments.

Kimble said all applications stating the strike was responsible for the worker's layoff are immediately turned down. This disapproval is the basis for an appeal.

The applications of four construction workers will be selected to be reviewed by the board, Kimble said, as representative of the entire unemployed group.

He said a review by the board must await replies from the individual employers and a seven-day waiting period for filing appeals.

Two of the construction firms engaged in the Sparrows Point expansion program said today they had not laid off any employes because of the strike.

The police found two pistols in the plane.

All the injured were taken to the Ingolstadt Municipal Hospital and put under guard. Two women were among the injured.

Police said some of those in the hospital were injured seriously.

The seven passengers who remained neutral asked to be returned to Hungary.

The plane incident was a new sign of rising restlessness in Communist Hungary and elsewhere in the Soviet satellite countries.

On June 28 there was a bloody uprising of workers in Poznan demanding bread and freedom from their Polish Communist leaders.

Hungary has shown fears it may be the next to feel the fury of the workers.

State Appeals Court Rules Against Censor

ANNAPOLIS, July 13 (AP)—Maryland movie censors today lost their court fight with United Artists Corp. over cutting a two-minute scene from "the Man with the Golden Arm."

The Court of Appeals ruled that the scene, showing actor Frank Sinatra taking a narcotic injection, does not "teach and advocate" the use of narcotics and therefore is not in conflict with the state's revised movie censorship law.

"On the contrary, the evidence is strong and convincing that the picture is likely to have a beneficial effect as a deterrent from the use of narcotics," the court said in a 20-page opinion.

The action, reversing a Baltimore City court decision, was the first legal test in the Court of Appeals of Maryland's movie censorship law since it was rewritten by the 1955 Legislature to comply with a Supreme Court decision.

The court said it was unnecessary to rule on the constitutionality of the law since it held it had been misapplied.

The revamped law bans movies which are obscene or which tend to incite crime or corrupt morals.

Included in the legislative definition of inciting to crime is any movie or scene of movie which "advocates or teaches the use of, or the methods of use of, narcotics or habit-forming drugs."

Acting under this section, Chief Censor C. Morton Goldstein ordered snipped from a the movie a scene showing Frankie Machine, played by Frank Sinatra, taking a narcotic after six months in a federal hospital for addicts.

The court noted that the scene showed him preparing to take the drug, administered by another person, and although it did not show the actual injection it showed the needle being removed from his arm.

Goldstein argued that the scene "teaches" the use of, or methods of use of, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. The court opinion said, however, that Goldstein "admitted that the board did not consider whether the scene 'advocates' such use or methods of use."

The court said the statute is directed at advocacy of drugs, "not discussion."

It noted that the movie had been praised by scientists and educators as preaching against narcotics and the producer's argument that the scene in question was a "climax" to its sermon.

The suit against the State Board of Censors was brought by United Artists as the producer, and Carlyle Productions, Inc., as distributor of the movie.

They had argued that the scene had not been deleted in any other state but Maryland and had also been shown in its entirety in Europe.

SRC Freezes Land Values

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—The State Roads Commission froze the values today on land it wants for widening of U.S. 240 in its first legal action to prevent speculation.

The values on 73 properties will be forzen for one year. A law authorizing such state action went into effect June 1.

It was enacted after land speculations in advance of purchase by the commission was reported last year.

Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general for the commission, and William B. Wheeler, Montgomery County counsel, gave checks to Court Clerk Clayton K. Watkins for $636,000.

That is what the commission thinks the properties are worth. If the owners feel they are worth more, the roads commission will negotiate for as long as six months. After that, dissatisfied owners may appeal to a new Board of Property Review and to a court.

Buscher said the new law "adequately protects the rights of property owners while at the same time speeding up road improvements and preventing speculation."

All of the frozen land is on U.S. 240 from Rockville to Rock Creek Parkway just north of Bethesda.

A fourth lane is to be added to the route.

Secretary Testifies At Murder Trial

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—The secretary of a slain Army officer testified in Federal Court today that he had asked her to marry him the day before he was shot to death.

Miss Dorothy Dwyer, 19, of Bel Air, Md., was among the first defense witnesses in the trial of Mrs. Victoria A. Johnson. The 35-year-old mother of three is charged with murder in the death of her husband, 1st Lt. Eugene C. Johnson, 30.

As the defense opened its case, Mrs. Johnson's attorney told the jury she had bought the death gun intending to shoot herself. But when her husband told her he wanted a divorce, she "went black" and shot him, said Attorney D. Paul McNabb.

Man Shoot Up Neighbor's Home In TV Ruckus

SPEKE, England, July 13 (AP)—Jack Pugh couldn't see his TV screen—so he took a pistol and shot up his neighbor, the neighbor's wife, and their TV set, police charged today. Pugh, 50, was held on a charge of attempting to murder Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Morrison.

"I acted under great provocation," police quoted him as saying in a statement. "He (Morrison) is an evil man."

Police said Pugh had complained about a faulty switch in the Morrison's house which interfered with his radio and TV set.

"At 9:30 last night," said Prosecutor E. V. Renshaw, "he armed himself with a .38 revolver and went round to the Morrison's home in an irate mood."

He got no answer from the Morrisons—who were watching their own TV—so he fired four bullets through the front window, wounding Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and hitting their TV set. Then he went around and fired through the kitchen door.

Residents Fight Plan For Dump In Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, July 13 (AP) — A group of residents of the nearby Huyetts area said today they'll go to Gov. McKeldin with their fight against a dump Hagerstown wants to build in their area.

They take sharp exception to a State geologist's report and contend the dump will pollute the underground water supply.

Hagerstown has an option to buy a farm in the Huyett's section six miles west of the city. If it can get the approval of the State Health Department it plans to dispose of refuse through a sanitary land fill method.

Last May 8, six residents sent a petition to the health department objecting to the proposed dump. Each petitioner received a letter from George I. Hall, chief of the department's division of sanitary engineering. Enclosed was a copy of a report from Dr. Joseph T. Singewald Jr., director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources.

The residents said they disagree with a number of points in the report. They say homes are closer to the proposed dump site than the report says they are. They contend most of the petitioners' homes are in a shale belt rather than the limestone belt as they said the report lists them.

They announced they were asking the governor for an investigation.

Said Mrs. Henry S. Munson, one of the petitioners:

"The whole letter sounds like a whitewash to me. It doesn't say that our wells won't be contaminated, just that it's unlikely that they will be. That allows a loophole for Dr. Singewald and the whole State Department of Health in case they are polluted.

"But what do we do for a water supply if drainage from a dump makes our water unusable. After the city succeeds in pushing through a $14,000 solution to a $250,000 problem, it's not going to backtrack for a few county residents."

The residents have engaged attorneys and threaten to seek an injunction if the health department gives a go ahead.

Dr. Singewald, whose office is in Baltimore, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

SAC To Ready Missiles Squadron

OMAHA, July 13 (AP)—The Strategic Air Command announced today it is beginning to plan for a strategic missiles squadron which will be ready to handle long-range guided missiles "when they become operational."

The headquarters said SAC's first guided missile unit will have the job of planning for integration of the intermediate range and intercontinental missiles into the strategic force structure. Although SAC does not expect them to be in operational use for several years, the use of missiles will present new tactical and organizational problems, selection of launching sites and other advance planning.

Army Housing Construction Okayed

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP) — A House Armed Services subcommittee today approved Army proposals for construction of Capehart housing at six bases. The proposals now go to the main committee for action.

Pilot Is Killed In Jet Crash

U.S. Army Heads Move To Patch Bavaria Incident

BAMBERG, Germany, July 13 (AP) — U. S. Army commanders moved quickly today to patch up strained relations with local authorities after the Bamberg City Council last night called for withdrawal of American troops from this Bavarian city.

The unprecedented demand was sparked by the alleged raping of a 15-year-old school girl by seven American soldiers. Formal charges against the seven were filed yesterday, less than 72 hours after the alleged assaults occurred.

U. S. 10th Infantry Division commander Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett came here today to make a personal investigation of the case. He met Bamberg Mayor Luitpold Weegmann to inform him of the Army's action in the case.

Col. M. N. Houston, commanding officer of the 85th Infnatry regiment, stationed here, assured Bambergers that, "In the interest of good will established here this command will continue in the concerted efforts to eliminate unfortunate incidents adversely affecting our relationship."

The Bamberg City Council also decided last night to limit official German-American relations here to the "minimum necessary" and ordered American soldiers barred from the biggest outdoors swimming pool because they were "causing a public nuisance."

A 10th Division spokesman said no American troops are confined to their barracks any longer. Army officials said last night the entire 85th Regiment had been confined to barracks immediately after the raping, and that only selected groups of soldiers were allowed to go to town on the following days. The 85th came here last November from Ft. Riley, Kan.

Army officials seemed taken aback by the City Council resolution. It was the most vehment protest in a barrage of criticism by local authorities and the West German press against what the Germans claim is an increase in Allied—and in particular American—indignities. The U. S. Army has denied there is any upward trend in the number of incidents involving GIs but added that it is "not standing on statistics."

Navy Recalls Adm. Eller

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Navy announced today the recall to active duty of Rear Adm. Ernest M. Eller, retired, to serve as director of naval history and curator of the Navy Department.

He succeeds Rear Adm. John B. Heffernan, who is returning to retired status.

Eller, who lives in Annapolis, was director of public information for the Navy from 1946 to 1948. During part of World War II he was attached to the staff of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and wrote the Pacific commander's war reports.

His last sea duty was commander of the cruiser Albany in 1951 and 1952. He retired in 1954 after an illness.

Centreville Man Found In River

CENTREVILLE, Md., July 13 (AP) — The body of James Fillmore King, 42-year-old Centreville Negro, was recovered from the Corsica River today.

Dr. W. H. Fisher, medical examiner for Queen Annes County, said the waterman had been dead three or four days. Authorities said he apparently tumbled out of a boat while crabbing.

The body, fully clothed including hip boots, was found in the river about five miles southwest of Centreville. His boat was found last night.

Compromise Suggested As Gas Rate Hearing Ends

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company has changed its proposal for a rate increase for its Maryland customers so as to lighten the burden for the consumer using gas for non-heating purposes.

Under the plan presented to the Maryland Public Service Commission Thursday in Baltimore the weight would be shifted to the heating customer.

In making the proposal company spokesmen said the firm is not compromising on the request that new rates produce a net revenue increase of $147,500 yearly. This would bring the company earnings to 6.44 per cent instead of the present 4.78 per cent.

The rates in operation call for $1.50 to be paid for the first 1,000 cubic feet and 83 cents for the next 1,000.

In its first proposal for an increase the company suggested $1.75 for the first 200 cubic feet, 85 cents per 1,000 for the next 1,800, and 78 cents per 1,000 for the next 298,000 cubic feet.

The above proposal has been changed to $1.75 for the first 1,000 cubic feet and 85 cents per 1,000 for the next 299,000 cubic feet. This would cut the proposed increase for the non-heating customer about 50 per cent and make it about 50 cents more per month than the present rate based on a 3,000-foot consumption.

The hearing in the present rate case concluded Thursday and the commission gave the company and foes to the increase until September 1 to file briefs.

The unanimous vote for Ollenhauer was given on the third day of the Social Democrat annual convention here.

It also would provide like penalties for seditious conspiracy, in place of the present maximum of a $5,000 fine, 6 years in prison or both.

ESB To Decide On Benefits For Strike Victims

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 13 (INS)—If you know your Spanish history, you'll remember that El Cid was one of Spain's national heroes and is equivalent to our George Washington. That's the role Anthony Quinn will play in Spair for the ASPA and Anthone Productions, his own independent company.

I am told that "El Cid" will be filmed with the full cooperation of the Spanish government and the picture will start early next year.

Tony will fly from London to Paris, where he is now appearing in "Hunchback of Paris" with Gina Lolobrigida, to try and persuade Ava Gardner to co-star with him in "El Cid." Ava might very well do it since she loves Spain and has a home there.

Hear from Alaska that Gary Crosby tore the house down when he sang "Birth of the Blues," "Blue Skies" and other songs at the Elmendorf Air Force Base. Gary returned immediately to Fort Lewis, Washington, after his appearance with a group of other celebrities.

Chill Wills emceed the show and Jeff Donnell was assistant emcee. Roberta Linn did her complete Sands Hotel show, and Mala Powers entertained with a group of other young stars. Gary was the only soldier and as soon as he gets through basic training he hopes to do a lot more shows for troops all over the world. One hundred twenty thousand dollars was raised for the Air Force Aid Society.

I spoke to Eddie and to Debbie Reynolds' mother about Debbie, who returns to work on Monday. Eddie said that all of her most strenuous dances and numbers for "Bundle of Joy" are over. Mrs. Reynolds feared that if she didn't rest more she might lose the baby, so that's what Debbie's going to do—rest, rest, rest. Eddie is staying at the Reynolds' home with his bride.

First he was sick, then she, but fortunately not at the same time.

I get the tip that a book by David Karr, to be published by Ballantine Books in August, called "Fight for Control" has our studios jumping. Mr. Karr, a New York corporate relations expert, has written a behind the scenes story of our country's biggest proxy fights. The one chapter that has the studios winging is the fascinating yarn behind A. P. Ginannini's fight to keep control of the Bank of America, the California bank which has had such a colorful background.

This book by Mr. Karr, I hear, has all the big business excitement of "Executive Suite."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jimmy Van Heusen will be back in New York on Tuesday from a visit to Frank Sinatra. He's bringing back with him Frankie's best girl, Peggy Connolly.

Frankie has been on the telephone every day to the Mt. Sinai Hospital where his mother is recovering following surgery for an obstruction.

The buzz of the international set is the romance that has developed between Ruth Roman and Count Jose Dorelis. He is Dolly O'Brien's ex.

Very quietly "Julie" is being shown to police chiefs around the country. There is murder on the mind of a jealous husband.

Jack Entratter has received a whooping offer from NBC to stage three spectaculars a year. He can do it and still manage the Sands in Las Vegas.

Zsa Zsa Gabor stopped the show when she walked into the Cocoanut Grove with Harry Karl for Gordon MacRae's opening night.

Those ringsiding were the Ernest Borgnines, Marge and Gower Champion, the Jeff Chandlers, Miriam Nelson and Jack Meyers, Fernando Lamas and Arlene Dahl, Lisa Kirk and Bob Wells.

The home of Don O'Connor is the last gasp. Even his garden is heated with infra-red which keeps the bricks in the patio warm, and his hi-fi set is strung in the trees throughout the garden.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In The Sun's Spotlight

Under-the-arm fuzz not only is unsightly but impedes deodorization. You can work hard on building up a good figure to look devastating in a new bathing suit—and then, let superfluous hair destroy your entire appearance.

Removal of hair under the arm is a grooming must in your quest for complete femininity, good looks, and charm. The time to "defuzz" is immediately after a bath. The skin is clean and pliant then. Shaving is speedy, neat and painless. Just be sure that your safety razor is sharp and rustless. Lather the underarm with soap or shaving cream. Shave the hair in the direction in which it grows. Rinse thoroughly. If you should carelessly nick your skin, touch the spot with an antiseptic. It is best to put on some hand lotion, face cream—or even powder may be enough for a finish. Be careful of applying an antiperspirant after shaving (read directions on the container to learn if they advise against it).

Note to wives: Don't borrow your husband's razor—it will drive him wild. It's worth it to invest in your own.

The razor treatment is only for the underarms and legs. Many prefer a cream depilatory, which acts by dissolving the hair at the surface of the skin. It takes time, but the results are long lasting, and in some cases growth is eventually discouraged. For this reason many prefer it to the razor method. Be sure to follow directions explicitly. Never use if you are troubled with skin or circulatory problems on the legs. Be careful to keep the depilatory away from your eyes. Always point the tube away from the face while squeezing out the contents.

Abrasive pads may work well for you if the growth is not excessive.

Monday: Trick for a trip.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In The Sun's Spotlight

Under-the-arm fuzz not only is unsightly but impedes deodorization. You can work hard on building up a good figure to look devastating in a new bathing suit—and then, let superfluous hair destroy your entire appearance.

Removal of hair under the arm is a grooming must in your quest for complete femininity, good looks, and charm. The time to "defuzz" is immediately after a bath. The skin is clean and pliant then. Shaving is speedy, neat and painless. Just be sure that your safety razor is sharp and rustless. Lather the underarm with soap or shaving cream. Shave the hair in the direction in which it grows. Rinse thoroughly. If you should carelessly nick your skin, touch the spot with an antiseptic. It is best to put on some hand lotion, face cream—or even powder may be enough for a finish. Be careful of applying an antiperspirant after shaving (read directions on the container to learn if they advise against it).

Note to wives: Don't borrow your husband's razor—it will drive him wild. It's worth it to invest in your own.

The razor treatment is only for the underarms and legs. Many prefer a cream depilatory, which acts by dissolving the hair at the surface of the skin. It takes time, but the results are long lasting, and in some cases growth is eventually discouraged. For this reason many prefer it to the razor method. Be sure to follow directions explicitly. Never use if you are troubled with skin or circulatory problems on the legs. Be careful to keep the depilatory away from your eyes. Always point the tube away from the face while squeezing out the contents.

Abrasive pads may work well for you if the growth is not excessive.

Monday: Trick for a trip.

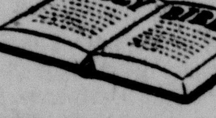
HOLD TIGHT !

Ever find yourself caught out in the middle of a storm with your umbrella blowing itself inside out?

There you are, clinging like mad to that frail bit of cloth and metal . . . and you realize that if the wind gets one whit stronger your "protection" is going to blow right out of your hands.

Fortunately, it doesn't hurt to get wet, so losing your umbrella wouldn't be much of a tragedy. But when you're caught in one of the other types of storms life deals out . . . a storm that buffets at your inner sense of security . . . or your idea of right or wrong . . . a storm that tries to undermine your marriage, or your career . . . or a storm of sickness or strife . . . then it's a very different matter.

How fortunate that in those more difficult moments you don't have to rely upon something as flimsy as an umbrella. How fortunate that you can turn to the Church and find in it solace, protection, courage, and the faith to keep going. You will find that the Church is a shelter that will always protect you.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

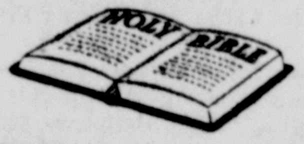
HOLD TIGHT !

Ever find yourself caught out in the middle of a storm with your umbrella blowing itself inside out?

There you are, clinging like mad to that frail bit of cloth and metal . . . and you realize that if the wind gets one whit stronger your "protection" is going to blow right out of your hands.

Fortunately, it doesn't hurt to get wet, so losing your umbrella wouldn't be much of a tragedy. But when you're caught in one of the other types of storms life deals out . . . a storm that buffets at your inner sense of security . . . or your idea of right or wrong . . . a storm that tries to undermine your marriage, or your career . . . or a storm of sickness or strife . . . then it's a very different matter.

How fortunate that in those more difficult moments you don't have to rely upon something as flimsy as an umbrella. How fortunate that you can turn to the Church and find in it solace, protection, courage, and the faith to keep going. You will find that the Church is a shelter that will always protect you.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Parakeet Reunited With Owner

FROSTBURG .... "Lost: parakeet, bright green. Vicinity of High Street, Frostburg. Phone 825 or 20-R. Reward ...."

This ad appeared yesterday morning for the first time in the Tri-Town section of the Cumberland News. It was read by a family in Loartown, about 5 miles from Frostburg, who had found a green parakeet the day before. A phone call reunited the owner and the bird and from other phone calls the following story was pieced together.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blocher, High Street, Frostburg, have owned a green parakeet which became quite a pet, flying through the house, eating from the table and acting like one of the family.

Monday morning the bird flew out of the house and didn't return. Mrs. Blocher feared it was gone for good but looked for it in the neighborhood for a day or so before thinking of an ad. Friday was the first day it could appear and several hours later the phone call came that the bird was found.

Later another call came from Mrs. George Kroll, who operates a grocery store on East Main Street. She told Mrs. Blocher she saw a green parakeet in her backyard, a mile from the Blochers, on Monday afternoon but was unable to catch it. Later yesterday, Mrs. Blocher received another phone call saying a green parakeet was seen on the Harvey farm between Shaft and Carlos but again it eluded it's would be captors on Tuesday.

Then on Thursday, Stanley Hitchens, of Loartown, saw the bird in a cherry tree in his yard and this time the bird, probably tired out from it's travels because it was at least 5 miles from home, remained quiet and permitted Hitchens to pick it up.

Early yesterday morning he saw the ad, called the Blochers and reunited the bird and its owners.

Parakeet Reunited With Owner

FROSTBURG . . . . "Lost: parakeet, bright green. Vicinity of High Street, Frostburg. Phone 825 or 20-R. Reward . . . ."

This ad appeared yesterday morning for the first time in the Tri-Town section of the Cumberland News. It was read by a family in Loartown, about 5 miles from Frostburg, who had found a green parakeet the day before. A phone call reunited the owner and the bird and from other phone calls the following story was pieced together.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blocher, High Street, Frostburg, have owned a green parakeet which became quite a pet, flying through the house, eating from the table and acting like one of the family.

Monday morning the bird flew out of the house and didn't return. Mrs. Blocher feared it was gone for good but looked for it in the neighborhood for a day or so before thinking of an ad. Friday was the first day it could appear and several hours later the phone call came that the bird was found.

Later another call came from Mrs. George Kroll, who operates a grocery store on East Main Street. She told Mrs. Blocher she saw a green parakeet in her backyard, a mile from the Blochers, on Monday afternoon but was unable to catch it. Later yesterday, Mrs. Blocher received another phone call saying a green parakeet was seen on the Harvey farm between Shaft and Carlos but again it eluded it's would be captors on Tuesday.

Then on Thursday, Stanley Hitchens, of Loartown, saw the bird in a cherry tree in his yard and this time the bird, probably tired out from it's travels because it was at least 5 miles from home, remained quiet and permitted Hitchens to pick it up.

Early yesterday morning he saw the ad, called the Blochers and reunited the bird and its owners.

Cresap Monument Placing Causing More Controversy

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday was informed of another phase of the internal controversy in the Cresap Society concerning a proposal to place the Cresap monument on the Court House lawn.

Several weeks ago Ross F. Shaw, of Oldtown, a member of the society, in a letter to the commissioners suggested that the monument to Col. Thomas Cresap, pioneer Allegany countian, be placed at the Court House.

The commissioners said that in their opinion it was up to the Cresap Society and perhaps the Allegany County Historical Society to suggest a location for the stone.

Then last week, the commissioners received a letter from Col. F. Egerton Powell, (USA-Ret.) this city, another member of the society, who praised the board for its action in this matter, pointing out that Shaw was only an honorary member and did not have authority to act for the society.

Yesterday, the board received a rebuttal from Shaw, stating that he has been a paid up member for many years.

Shaw told the commissioners in his letter that "it would pay Mr. Powell to acquaint himself a little more with the business and social activities of the Cresap Society before making any public statements to your board or anyone else concerning the Cresap Society or its members in this county."

Shaw said he feels that the Cresap stone that lies in Riverside Park will soon be transferred to a suitable place whether it be in front of the Court House or elsewhere.

The monument, erected by the Cresap Society several years ago in Riverside Park, was moved aside to make way for the new bridge.

Members of the Cresap Teen Club, with Miss Joanne Kidwell, president, in charge, are making a canvass of the area to solicit booster memberships from both adults and juniors. The campaign will conclude Wednesday. Adult advisory chairman is Charles Wendt.

County Board Granted New Easements

An easement granting the Allegany County Board of Commissioners property on each side of a road leading from the county road in Mt. Savage to the former Western Maryland Railway shops was received yesterday from two Mt. Savage industries.

The nine-foot strip on each side of this road was granted by the Mt. Savage Refractories Company of Allegany County and the Nicholas Machine Works.

Signing the agreement for the refractories were Andrew J. Rost, president, and I. A. Pressman, secretary. For the machine works were Nicholas Manoilovich, president, and Peter A. Lukas, secretary.

The easement was referred by Commissioner James Orr, the only commissioner present yesterday, to Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson, who is ill at his home on Mason Road. Board President William H. Lemmert is on vacation.

The board also received an application from James E. Russell, Mt. Savage, through his attorney, William Walsh, to operate a metal and scrap metal yard at Slabtown.

The application was referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, by Commissioner Orr to check the site of the junk yard for its location from the county road.

The application will go from Chapman to the county attorney, Gorman E. Getty, for further check, Orr said.

Accidents Near Bedford Take Four Lives

Four persons, two of them young brothers from Franklin, Pa., were killed in separate automobile accidents in the Bedford, Pa., area yesterday.

Pennsylvania State Police were still on the Turnpike at 1 p.m. investigating a car and truck collision in which the boys, James Hutchison, 11, and Robert Hutchison, 7, were killed when a car driven by their father skidded on the slippery road and skidded into a truck shortly before noon 5 miles west of the Bedford Interchange.

The Hutchinsons were en route to a place in Eastern Pennsylvania when the car driven by their father, Robert, 34, skidded on the rain-swept highway. The mother of the dead brothers, along with the father, were treated at Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Two men, William Rickabaugh, 55, and Albert Johnson, 56, both of Saxton, Pa., died in Bedford County Memorial Hospital late yesterday morning from injuries received about 7:30 a. m. when a car in which they were passengers crashed into a culvert ten miles south of Saxton on Route 26.

Edward F. Rickabaugh, about 34, also of Saxton, told State Police he lost control of the car when a tire blew out. He is the son of William Rickabaugh.

Young Rickabaugh and a fourth stonemason in the auto, G. Galt, 34, of Saxton, were injured. Rickabaugh is reported to me in a critical condition.

All of the men were stonemasons en route to work at Breezewood when the accident occurred.

Housing Project Plans Are Progressing

Another step forward has been made in the establishment of the third low rent public housing project in Cumberland.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was informed of this in a letter from the Housing Authority of Cumberland.

James B. Raines, executive director of the authority, stated that the housing authority is prepared to enter into an annual contributions contract with the Public Housing Administration providing for financial assistance for Project MD-5-3.

This will be for 80 new dwelling units to be developed on the west side of Oldtown Road between Thomas Street and Cresap Street.

The project is covered under a cooperative agreement between the authority, the County Commissioners and the Allegany County Board of Education dated July 17, 1950, and amended March 20, 1956.

Raines said the authority, under the Housing Act of 1954, requires that prior to the execution of an annual contributions contract the authority is to inform the governing body of the locality of its estimate of the annual taxes which would be levied if the property were privately owned.

Raines said the authority's estimate on the annual amount of taxes which would be levied on this project if it were privately owned is $8,538.07.

The actual taxes levied last year on the site of the new housing project amounted to $1,877.18.

Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, chairman of the housing authority, explained this information must be given as part of the procedure that has to be followed in getting the project underway.

Rev. Mr. Richardson said the site for the project has been approved by the Public Housing Administration.

Soon, he said, money will be available to buy up the options the authority holds on the various properties.

After the site is acquired, the old buildings on it will be torn down. At the same time, plans will be drawn up.

Cumberland already has 124 low rent dwelling units at Jane Frazier Village in Mapleside and 30 others in Benjamin Banneker Homes on Frederick Street.

James Kloran, city, through his attorney, Charles Z. Heskett, docketed the action against Asa McDowell, of Rawlings.

The declaration states that McDowell's auto headed north on Route 220, ran across the medial line and struck the southbound auto being driven by Kloran.

Kloran's right leg was broken in two places, his nose split open, three teeth knocked out and a bridge damaged, all of which required him to spend 34 days in the hospital, the suit stated.

Kloran declared he was unable to work for ten weeks, suffering a loss of wages.

Gas Tax Makes Roads Better, Not Cheaper

First gasoline tax was imposed in the U. S. 37 years ago at the state level. Eleven years later—in 1930—every state was tapping this revenue source.

It wasn't until 1932 that the federal government pushed into the gasoline field for revenue, an action which the states, through the Council of State Governments, have tried to have rescinded ever since. They contend the federal levy on gasoline is an overlapping tax in a field which should be left to the states.

The initial federal tax was a cent a gallon. After a brief period in 1933 when, as an emergency, the federal take was raised temporarily to a cent and a half, the rate was definitely raised to that level in 1940. Five years ago the government started collecting two cents a gallon, and now—to finance the huge highway construction program—the era of a three-cent federal gasoline tax has been ushered in.

State gasoline tax rates over the years have climbed upward until the extremes are three cents a gallon in Missouri and seven cents in 10 states. Half of the 48 states impose a six-cent levy.

Gasoline taxes netted the states a total of $2.5 billion—plus last year, while the federal government was collecting $1 billion additional at the same gasoline pumps. This federal take will now increase to $1.5 billion a year.

Gasoline taxes have become an integral part of day-to-day costs of operating an automobile and few owners think of the drain they represent. Roads are vastly better than in the past, though inadequate in some congested areas because of the rapid rise in the number of automobiles. Motorists several years hence will ride on still better—but not cheaper—highways.

Taxes And Mobs

D. P. Mohle, of Houston, Texas, in commenting on a piece I wrote concerning taxes and mobs, asks:

"Who in his right mind believes that the mobs would cease their illegal activities and disband if the income tax laws were repealed?"

Fortunately, Mr. Mohle lives a sheltered life, away from what in modern gang parlance is called "the mob." This body of persons consists not of burglars and pickpockets and other small fry of the criminal world; it consists of men who deal in millions of dollars, whose business covers the world, who specialize in narcotics, gold smuggling, the legitimatizing of untaxed dollars, in politics, domestic and international, in labor unions, particularly those which control communications and water fronts. Except for those who are hired as goons to do dirty jobs, most of the mob are well-dressed, conservative-appearing persons, who live normal lives in the communities of their choice, who deal with banks, here and abroad, in large matters and many of them have an established status in the society in which they live.

As conditions in the world change, their affairs become different. At present, their principal business is to obtain one of the most valuable commodities in the world, the untaxed American dollar which is worth a great deal more than the taxed American dollar. To get hold of the untaxed American dollar, they engage in enterprises which cannot altogether be disclosed because otherwise they would be taxed. For instance, the great narcotic trade, which is now being controlled out of Italy and which pours the narcotic products of Red China and other countries into the United States, exchanges millions of untaxed dollars for the health-destroying drug. The mob finances this trade.

When the dollars are abroad, they have to be legitimatized in some fashion and brought back to the United States for investment in ordinary, properly-taxed businesses. This can be done by the organization of corporations in about 17 countries and by keeping an anonymous, numbered account in a Swiss bank or in the banks of a few other countries.

The conversion of untaxed dollars, which are naturally illegally possessed, into legitimate dollars is so lucrative that men of good reputations in their communities often act as fronts for the money, serving as directors of corporations, etc. It is this particular situation that needs to be investigated by Congress.

The question that Mr. Mohle asked can be answered in this way: a combination of Prohibition and Tax Laws, together with the enormous treasuries of labor unions, attracted a new type of person to what used to be called the underworld, but is now nothing of the sort. It will be found, when the mobs are really investigated, that men will stop short of admitting ownership of a Swiss anonymous, numbered bank account almost as facilely as a Communist employs the Fifth Amendment. Also, it will be found that the men who are using so-called Swiss or Liberian or Honduras facilities do not at all resemble George Raft in an underworld movie but are prominent business men with residences on Fifth and Park avenues in New York and close connections in Washington, and it will be found that they or their lawyers or accountants have contributed to the campaign funds of both parties and to many charities and public institutions.

And also it will be found that some whom we think of as American citizens are not American citizens at all, but hold such passports as the Portuguese and Swiss, although they were not born in Portugal or in Switzerland, which is no sin but is a point to be made in passing.

Air travel being what it is, the principals move around the world with terrific swiftness, commuting between the United States and Switzerland which is the center for such business. This is no reflection on Switzerland but the process of buying American businesses with untaxed American dollars needs explaining. European business men find nothing wrong with any of this because an American untaxed dollar is such a valuable commodity that a man would be a fool indeed who did not employ his initiative and ingenuity to possess as many of them as he could, to legitimatize them to the best of his ability, and to invest them in American industries, such as those related to the national defense.

Pan American Airways Distorted CAB Reports On Its Accidents

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Pan American Airways, which advertises itself as "The world's most experienced airways," has also taken more newspaper editors and publishers on free junkets and employs more lobbyists and public-relations men than any other airway.

The full force of this public-relations battery is always brought to bear on any newsman who dares report on the activities of one of the world's biggest airlines, and a recent column by this writer was no exception.

The column in question was dedicated to the question of air safety and illustrated the manner in which the Civil Aeronautics Board and Civil Aeronautics Authority had failed to take proper safety precautions. It was not aimed at Pan American Airways, though a search of CAB-CAA files shows that Pan Am has been the chief offender when it comes to preventable accidents in the last 18 months.

Actually the column was much less critical of Pan Am than official records justified.

Rusty Propeller Blades

But since Pan American's public relations men have now concocted a letter to newspapers denying various references to two Pan American accidents which could have been prevented; and since the safety of American life on the airways is of crucial importance, let's take a more complete look at the Pan American safety record, as published in official CAB records.

When a Pan American Boeing 377 ditched in the Pacific 35 miles off the coast of Oregon in March 1955, the CAB made an examination of other Pan American propellers. This was because a propeller had worked loose on the No. 3 engine and cause the engine to fall out.

The shocking fact was that the CAB found 13.5 per cent of the Pan American planes on the Pacific-Alaska division to have rusty or corroded propeller blades.

Here is the official finding of the CAB, page 7, Accident Investigation Report, File No. 1-0039:

"Corrosion which is known often to serve as foci for fatigue failure was found on 13.5 per cent of the PAWA - Pacific - Alaska division blades."

Pan Am also stated in its denial of my column: "The CAB report definitely states: 'The aircraft was ditched under control'."

Merely because a big corporation states something to be a fact doesn't make it a fact, no matter how many public-relations men it employs. Here is exactly what the CAB report stated:

"A Pan American World Airways Boeing 377 N 1032V was ditched in the Pacific ocean . . . after No. 3 engine and propeller tore loose and fell free, followed by control difficulties."

This doesn't sound much like being ditched "under control."

The record makes various other references to the plane's uncontrollability, as follows: It "appeared to be on the verge of a spin . . . The captain tried to get the airplane under control . . . He still could not get the nose up . . . The aircraft continued to descend rapidly . . . A message was broadcast that ditching was imminent . . . Contact with the water was severe; the impact dislodged life rafts and some seats were torn loose."

Yet Pan Am in its official denial states that the CAB states that "the aircraft was ditched under control."

Another Denial

Pan Am also denied my statement that "CAB investigations revealed the pilot had been unable to increase the power of the three good engines to compensate for No. 3 due to electrical failure."

Here is exactly what the CAB reported: "The tearing away of No. 3 engine obviously created a short in that portion of the system serving No. 3 engine. A subsequent attempt by the flight engineer to increase r. p. m. by use of all switches simultaneously resulted in opening of the master circuit breaker so that the r. p. m. of none of the remaining three engines could be changed."

Incerasing the r. p. m., or revolutions per minute, is of course increasing power.

Actually the situation was worse than I reported, for Pan Am failed to teach the flight engineer what to do in such a nemergency. Says the CAB:

"The specific contingency that occurred in this accident was never taught in any of these classes (which the flight engineer had attended) nor had the company (Pan Am) issued any specific instructions in regard thereto."

Most blatant lie by Pan American was in connection with a near accident over Venice, Italy, when a Pan Am DC7B caught fire in its No. 3 engine. In denying any responsibility, Pan Am states: "The first information issued by Hamilton Standard to DC7B operations that propeller governor drive shafts should be replaced was on December 29, 1955, one day after the accident occurred."

According to the official CAB report, this was completely false. The statement was an interesting piece of camouflage concocted by Pan Am public-relations men. Here is what the CAB accident Investigation Report File No. 1-0178 stated on page 4:

In November, 1955, all DC7B operators were advised by the propeller manufacturer (Hamilton Standard) that as a result of the failures a program was being initiated to replace all governor drive shafts bearing the part No. 67035 with a new shaft, part No. 321822."

Pan Am had not complied with this recommendation at the time of the near accident over Venice on December 28, and it was not until January 16, 1956, that the CAA issued directive 56-2-2, making the change mandatory. My chief criticism was of the CAB-CAA for not requiring all companies to make an immediate change in a part which had been found to be defective.

Pan American may be the world's most experienced airlines, but its public-relations experts are certainly not the most truthful.

Both Parties Claim Reds Back Rivals For Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Democrats in Congress the other day gave vent to some righteous indignation about a staff memorandum sent out by the Senate Republican Policy Committee with the headline: "Communist Party Pleads for Democrats to Win." Several Republican Senators disavowed the memorandum and condemned it.

But now the Republicans are protesting because Representative Rooney of New York, Democrat, read to the House of Representatives on Wednesday a news report from London quoting Jacob Malik, the Soviet Ambassador there, as saying: "I'm for Eisenhower. The people of Europe know him and like him. We can do business with President Eisenhower."

Representative Charles Halleck, Republican leader of the House, said "Shame on you" to Mr. Rooney and generally condemned the tactic. No Democratic leaders have disavowed it.

But one wonders why all the excitement over what the communists think about an American Presidential election. The Senate Republican Policy Committee memorandum was also made up of quotations from published news reports which stated that the Illinois chairman of the Communist Party had brought in a recommendation to his fellow Communists to help support the Democratic Party in the 1956 election.

The theory that the American people will be persuaded to believe that the Communists can influence the outcome of an American election is, of course, not a new one. President Harry S. Truman, campaigning in 1948 for re-election, said in a speech in Oklahoma City on September 28:

"I charge finally that, in all this they (the Republicans) have not hurt the Communist Party one bit. They have helped it. The fact of the matter is that the Republican Party is unwittingly the ally of the Communists in this country. This is clearly shown in the election record of the Communist Party. . .

"The Communists want a Republican Administration because they think that its reactionary policies will lead to the confusion and strife on which Communism thrives. . .

"Here is something for every American to think about. Why have the Communists lined up solidly to help put the Republican President in the White House? Why do they want a Republican victory? Could it be that their position is now so weak , under a Democratic Administration, that their only hope is in a change? Could it be that they are counting on a Republican Administration to produce another economic crash which would play into the hands of Communism? Think that one over."

Nearly a month later at Boston, on October 27, Mr. Truman in a campaign speech said:

"Now, my friends, the truth of the matter is the Communists are doing all they can to defeat me and help my Republican opponents."

Mr. Truman in the 1952 campaign went a step further and virtually accused General Eisenhower of accepting Nazism. Mr. Truman said in a speech in New York in October 1952:

"The General Eisenhower) has had an attack of moral blindness, for today he is willing to accept the very practices that identified the so-called 'master race,' although he took a leading part in liberating Europe from their domination . . .

"Anti-Semistism, anti-Catholicism, and anti-foreignism grow only in concealment. They have hidden themselves within the Republican Party for years."

In that same campaign, Governor Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, in a speech at Boston on October 25, 1952, indicted a whole group of Republicans in this manner:

"They (the Republicans) have voted for policies which would encourage Soviet aggression and against policies which would check it. On these crucial issues of foreign policy, in short, the Old Guard has voted the straight party line—and I don't mean the Republican Party."

Mr. Stevenson's reference to a "straight party line" was taken generally at the time to mean, of course, the Communist Party line, since the words "party line" are usually associated with the policies that the Communists employ in indoctrinating their members or their allies or their dupes.

What the Senate Republican Policy Committee staff said the other day in their mimeographed announcement was this:

"The official Communist line has now been announced. The Republicans must be defeated and all support thrown to the Democrats. A Democratic Party victory is essential. This news has been percolating down to party members for some days."

The American people, however, will make up their own minds as to which party is doing better service for the Communist cause. When the legislative record of the present Congress is written, it will be found that many Democrats and many Republicans wanted to keep the Communists out of all positions in the government of the United States—both "sensitive" and "non-sensitive." It will be interesting to see whether the Republican or Democratic leadership blocked or aided passage of legislation looking to the extermination of Communists from any government position. That will be the acid test of which party, if any, is "soft on Communism."

Fermenting Green Corn Can Produce Poisonous Gas

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The silo at the end of the barn may be a mechanical booby trap. We now know why many farmers became ill and a few died after working in the silo while it was being filled. The fresh chopped corn ferments and produces nitrogen dioxide, a yellow to brown-red gas.

This is more likely to occur when the weather is warm and the corn is green. The chemical process begins almost immediately and is completed within a few days. Thereafter, the danger disappears and the silo becomes safe for man and beast.

For years, men who worked within the silo while it was being filled became short of breath or developed a sense of tightness in the chest. Others coughed because of irritation of the throat and chest. Still others developed a serious pneumonia.

Discovery of the cause was delayed for many years because everyone believed the farm folklore that "silage stole all the oxygen from the air." But evidence began to appear that this was not the explanation. Some farmers noted a brownish or yellowish gas near the floor of the connecting silo room on the day after it was filled. The wife of a sick farmer reported that when she washed his clothes after he returned from the silo, the garments smelled as if a bleach had been placed in the water.

Children playing near the silo also coughed and now and then chickens and suckling pigs were found dead in the barn on the morning after the job was done. All these factors suggested that a chemical was responsible and subsequent studies proved it was nitrogen dioxide.

This gas also played a role in two hospital fires that occurred in Cleveland and Albany more than 25 years ago. In both tragedies a brownish gas was noted when the films in the X-ray department caught fire. In those days, X-rays were made on a nitrate celluloid photographic film which produced nitrogen dioxide when burned.

Many of the hospital deaths were traced to the poisonous effects of the gas. Since nitrogen dioxide is two and one-half times as heavy as air, it settles toward the ground. This made it particularly hazardous because the fumes contaminated the atmosphere along the hospital corridors. The patients, attendants, and firemen were exposed as they rushed through the hall and the mortality among this group was high.

There is no specific antidote for poisoning of this nature. The victim needs fresh air and when breathing is affected, artificial respiration must be started.

SMOKING HEARTBURN

L. P. writes: Could smoking cause heartburn?

REPLY

SPINAL ARTHRITIS

T. D. writes: My mother has arthritis in her spine but not in her legs. Why is it that she can hardly walk?

REPLY

Arthritis may be causing pressure by the vertebrae on the nerves leading to the legs.

OVERGROWN SCARS

REPLY

Persons who are predisposed to keloids develop ugly scars wherever the skin is traumatized. This includes tattooing.

FALLEN STOMACH

G. L. writes: Could a dropped stomach be the cause of keeping the weight down?

REPLY

No, but the opposite is true. Thin individuals have little fat in the back part of the abdominal cavity and as a result, the internal organs tend to sag. This is not harmful, however, because the stomach, for example, can stretch and is about to handle food regardless of its location. In this respect your fallen stomach has nothing to do with keeping your weight down unless you refer to your center of gravity.

Try And Stop Me!

A gent strolling down Broadway noticed two rather prim old ladies hovering nervously outside a bar, and thought that "those nice old gals are trying to work up enough courage to enter." Then he overheard their conversation.

"Come on you spoilsport," urged one. "Let's crash the joint!"

"No, ma'am," insisted the other. "I say we skip this one."

They are singing the praises of an obstetrician in Dayton, Ohio who has two fixed charges for his services: $100 or $200. "Do you look up your patients' financial rating before you decide?" he was asked. "Not at all," the obstetrician answered. "I base my charge on the first question the father asks me when I come out of the delivery room. If he says 'Is it a boy or girl?' he gets a $200 charge. But if he says, 'Is my wife all right, doctor?' I bill him for only a hundred."

All Signs Fail

By Brother Barnabas

Yes, all signs fail in dry weather. Believe it or not, man hasn't yet been able to regulate the weather, earthquakes or volcanoes.

However, there are signs in other areas if we look for them. The yowling of a cat beneath your window at midnight is a sign of death—to the cat if he keeps it up.

If you see a man diligent (skillful) in his work, he will stand before kings; he will not stand before obscure men" (Proverbs 22:29).

Without being superstitious at all, we the people are influenced largely by signs — the dollar sign principally, but also by weather signs, market trends and "signs of the times."

Some say that the world is coming to an end very soon because everybody is writing a book or a colyum in the newspaper. They may have something.

Even the devil takes his cue from signs. It is said that "Satan trembles when he sees the weakest saint upon his knees." Mary, Queen of Scots, feared the prayers of John Knox more than an army of 10,000 men.

If one habitually spends more than he makes, he needs no other sign that he is headed for a destination that is spelled d-e-s-t-i-t-u-t-i-o-n.

When down to his last penny he will wend his way to the sign of the three balls where he will pawn his tools or his wife's wedding ring for money enough to pay the fiddler while he sings and dances:

Up and down the City Road,
In and out the Eagle,
That's the way the money goes-
Pop goes the weasel!

Think of the inconvenience of the city editor having to get his scissors back from the pawn broker before beginning his work, or the cobbler who had forfeited his last, or the tailor without his needle and thread.

An army general needed a private secretary, and he sent a lieutenant to find one. Three personable young ladies applied for the job.

They were asked in turn a simple question: What is 2 and 2? The first answered 4; the second said 22; the third didn't know.

Reporting back, the Lt. said the first was too mathematical, the second was too imaginative, the third too clever. The general said, "I'll take the blonde."

It's coming to be that an applicant for a job will have to be photographed, fingerprinted, phrenologized, hypnotized to learn all about his habits, whether married or single, whether he expects to marry the boss's daughter or work for a living.

Scientific tests are made to determine one's fitness for a particular job. A man will not make a good engineer if he is color-blind. A man will never become an apothecary if he thinks Sal Hepatica is a girl who works in the office.

He will never be a preacher if he thinks the Epistles are the wives of the Apostles. Nor will he be a grammarian if he thinks sipid and insipid are twins.

A four-leaf clover is often regarded as bringing good luck, and many people waste their time looking for them in the grass, but they do not fare as well as their neighbors who let their bees gather in the honey from the clover blossoms.

For a long time philosophers and naturalists have tried to locate in the human anatomy the organ for feeling and understanding. The heart was thought to be that organ by the ancient Hebrews, Egyptians and Greeks.

Others have found it in other parts of the body—the liver, the spleen, the head. The feet must have intelligence too, for what one lacks in his head he often has to make up with his feet.

Many words have filtered into our language descriptive of mental and spiritual qualities, such as hardheaded, bullheaded, pigheaded, coolheaded, and fatheaded, all of which we can identify among our acquaintances if not within ourselves.

But it remained for F. J. Gall at the end of the 18th Century, to make a diagram of the brain into 26 faculties, each of which could be located by feeling the "bumps" on the cranium.

If one were pugnacious there would be a bump back of the ear. There were other bumps, showing veneration, self-esteem, acquisitiveness, ideality, philoprogenitiveness, meaning love of children.

A certain phrenologist discovered an enlarged bump of pugnacity in one of his subjects, who yelled "Outch!" that's where my wife hit me over the head with a frying pan!"

In my gawky youthful days I made a study of phrenology, then in vogue, and made readings of my family and friends. In the home of a favorite aunt, a preacher's wife who happened to be calling asked me to feel the bumps on her head and tell their meaning.

She enjoyed the performance, but her future both here and hereafter had been fixed since she had married a Presbyterian minister and was ticketed through the Pearly Gates by foreordination.

If you are foredoomed to hang, you will never die by drowning, says

Gas Tax Makes Roads Better, Not Cheaper

After a brief period in 1933 when, as an emergency, the federal take was raised temporarily to a cent and a half, the rate was definitely raised to that level in 1940. Five years ago the government started collecting two cents a gallon, and now—to finance the huge highway construction program—the era of a three-cent federal gasoline tax has been ushered in.

State gasoline tax rates over the years have climbed upward until the extremes are three cents a gallon in Missouri and seven cents in 10 states. Half of the 48 states impose a six-cent levy.

Gasoline taxes netted the states a total of $2.5 billion—plus last year, while the federal government was collecting $1 billion additional at the same gasoline pumps. This federal take will now increase to $1.5 billion a year.

Gasoline taxes have become an integral part of day-to-day costs of operating an automobile and few owners think of the drain they represent. Roads are vastly better than in the past, though inadequate in some congested areas because of the rapid rise in the number of automobiles. Air travel being what it is, the principals move around the world with terrific swiftness, commuting between the United States and Switzerland which is the center for such business. This is no reflection on Switzerland but the process of buying American businesses with untaxed American dollars needs explaining. European business men find nothing wrong with any of this because an American untaxed dollar is such a valuable commodity that a man would be a fool indeed who did not employ his initiative and ingenuity to possess as many of them as he could, to legitimatize them to the best of his ability, and to invest them in American industries, such as those related to the national defense.

Pan American Airways Distorted CAB Reports On Its Accidents

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Pan American Airways, which advertises itself as "The world's most experienced airways," has also taken more newspaper editors and publishers on free junkets and employs more lobbyists and public-relations men than any other airway.

The full force of this public-relations battery is always brought to bear on any newsman who dares report on the activities of one of the world's biggest airlines, and a recent column by this writer was no exception.

The column in question was dedicated to the question of air safety and illustrated the manner in which the Civil Aeronautics Board and Civil Aeronautics Authority had failed to take proper safety precautions. It was not aimed at Pan American Airways, though a search of CAB-CAA files shows that Pan Am has been the chief offender when it comes to preventable accidents in the last 18 months.

Actually the column was much less critical of Pan Am than official records justified.

Rusty Propeller Blades

But since Pan American's public relations men have now concocted a letter to newspapers denying various references to two Pan American accidents which could have been prevented; and since the safety of American life on the airways is of crucial importance, let's take a more complete look at the Pan American safety record, as published in official CAB records.

When a Pan American Boeing 377 ditched in the Pacific 35 miles off the coast of Oregon in March 1955, the CAB made an examination of other Pan American propellers. This was because a propeller had worked loose on the No. 3 engine and cause the engine to fall out.

The shocking fact was that the CAB found 13.5 per cent of the Pan American planes on the Pacific-Alaska division to have rusty or corroded propeller blades.

Here is the official finding of the CAB, page 7, Accident Investigation Report, File No. 1-0039:

"Corrosion which is known often to serve as foci for fatigue failure was found on 13.5 per cent of the PAWA - Pacific - Alaska division blades."

Pan Am also stated in its denial of my column: "The CAB report definitely states: 'The aircraft was ditched under control'."

Merely because a big corporation states something to be a fact doesn't make it a fact, no matter how many public-relations men it employs. Here is exactly what the CAB report stated:

"A Pan American World Airways Boeing 377 N 1032V was ditched in the Pacific ocean . . . after No. 3 engine and propeller tore loose and fell free, followed by control difficulties."

This doesn't sound much like being ditched "under control."

The record makes various other references to the plane's uncontrollability, as follows: It "appeared to be on the verge of a spin . . . The captain tried to get the airplane under control . . . He still could not get the nose up . . . The aircraft continued to descend rapidly . . . A message was broadcast that ditching was imminent . . . Contact with the water was severe; the impact dislodged life rafts and some seats were torn loose."

Yet Pan Am in its official denial states that the CAB states that "the aircraft was ditched under control."

Another Denial

Pan Am also denied my statement that "CAB investigations revealed the pilot had been unable to increase the power of the three good engines to compensate for No. 3 due to electrical failure."

Here is exactly what the CAB reported: "The tearing away of No. 3 engine obviously created a short in that portion of the system serving No. 3 engine. A subsequent attempt by the flight engineer to increase r. p. m. by use of all switches simultaneously resulted in opening of the master circuit breaker so that the r. p. m. of none of the remaining three engines could be changed."

Incerasing the r. p. m., or revolutions per minute, is of course increasing power.

Actually the situation was worse than I reported, for Pan Am failed to teach the flight engineer what to do in such a nemergency. Says the CAB:

"The specific contingency that occurred in this accident was never taught in any of these classes (which the flight engineer had attended) nor had the company (Pan Am) issued any specific instructions in regard thereto."

Most blatant lie by Pan American was in connection with a near accident over Venice, Italy, when a Pan Am DC7B caught fire in its No. 3 engine. In denying any responsibility, Pan Am states: "The first information issued by Hamilton Standard to DC7B operations that propeller governor drive shafts should be replaced was on December 29, 1955, one day after the accident occurred."

According to the official CAB report, this was completely false. The statement was an interesting piece of camouflage concocted by Pan Am public-relations men. Here is what the CAB accident Investigation Report File No. 1-0178 stated on page 4:

In November, 1955, all DC7B operators were advised by the propeller manufacturer (Hamilton Standard) that as a result of the failures a program was being initiated to replace all governor drive shafts bearing the part No. 67035 with a new shaft, part No. 321822."

Pan Am had not complied with this recommendation at the time of the near accident over Venice on December 28, and it was not until January 16, 1956, that the CAA issued directive 56-2-2, making the change mandatory. My chief criticism was of the CAB-CAA for not requiring all companies to make an immediate change in a part which had been found to be defective.

Pan American may be the world's most experienced airlines, but its public-relations experts are certainly not the most truthful.

Both Parties Claim Reds Back Rivals For Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The Democrats in Congress the other day gave vent to some righteous indignation about a staff memorandum sent out by the Senate Republican Policy Committee with the headline: "Communist Party Pleads for Democrats to Win." Several Republican Senators disavowed the memorandum and condemned it.

But now the Republicans are protesting because Representative Rooney of New York, Democrat, read to the House of Representatives on Wednesday a news report from London quoting Jacob Malik, the Soviet Ambassador there, as saying: "I'm for Eisenhower. The people of Europe know him and like him. We can do business with President Eisenhower."

Representative Charles Halleck, Republican leader of the House, said "Shame on you" to Mr. Rooney and generally condemned the tactic. No Democratic leaders have disavowed it.

But one wonders why all the excitement over what the communists think about an American Presidential election. The Senate Republican Policy Committee memorandum was also made up of quotations from published news reports which stated that the Illinois chairman of the Communist Party had brought in a recommendation to his fellow Communists to help support the Democratic Party in the 1956 election.

The theory that the American people will be persuaded to believe that the Communists can influence the outcome of an American election is, of course, not a new one. President Harry S. Truman, campaigning in 1948 for re-election, said in a speech in Oklahoma City on September 28:

"I charge finally that, in all this they (the Republicans) have not hurt the Communist Party one bit. They have helped it. The fact of the matter is that the Republican Party is unwittingly the ally of the Communists in this country. This is clearly shown in the election record of the Communist Party. . .

"The Communists want a Republican Administration because they think that its reactionary policies will lead to the confusion and strife on which Communism thrives. . .

"Here is something for every American to think about. Why have the Communists lined up solidly to help put the Republican President in the White House? Why do they want a Republican victory? Could it be that their position is now so weak , under a Democratic Administration, that their only hope is in a change? Could it be that they are counting on a Republican Administration to produce another economic crash which would play into the hands of Communism? Think that one over."

Nearly a month later at Boston, on October 27, Mr. Truman in a campaign speech said:

"Now, my friends, the truth of the matter is the Communists are doing all they can to defeat me and help my Republican opponents."

Mr. Truman in the 1952 campaign went a step further and virtually accused General Eisenhower of accepting Nazism. Mr. Truman said in a speech in New York in October 1952:

"The General Eisenhower) has had an attack of moral blindness, for today he is willing to accept the very practices that identified the so-called 'master race,' although he took a leading part in liberating Europe from their domination . . .

"Anti-Semistism, anti-Catholicism, and anti-foreignism grow only in concealment. They have hidden themselves within the Republican Party for years."

In that same campaign, Governor Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, in a speech at Boston on October 25, 1952, indicted a whole group of Republicans in this manner:

"They (the Republicans) have voted for policies which would encourage Soviet aggression and against policies which would check it. On these crucial issues of foreign policy, in short, the Old Guard has voted the straight party line—and I don't mean the Republican Party."

Mr. Stevenson's reference to a "straight party line" was taken generally at the time to mean, of course, the Communist Party line, since the words "party line" are usually associated with the policies that the Communists employ in indoctrinating their members or their allies or their dupes.

What the Senate Republican Policy Committee staff said the other day in their mimeographed announcement was this:

"The official Communist line has now been announced. The Republicans must be defeated and all support thrown to the Democrats. A Democratic Party victory is essential. This news has been percolating down to party members for some days."

The American people, however, will make up their own minds as to which party is doing better service for the Communist cause. When the legislative record of the present Congress is written, it will be found that many Democrats and many Republicans wanted to keep the Communists out of all positions in the government of the United States—both "sensitive" and "non-sensitive." It will be interesting to see whether the Republican or Democratic leadership blocked or aided passage of legislation looking to the extermination of Communists from any government position. That will be the acid test of which party, if any, is "soft on Communism."

Fermenting Green Corn Can Produce Poisonous Gas

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The silo at the end of the barn may be a mechanical booby trap. We now know why many farmers became ill and a few died after working in the silo while it was being filled. The fresh chopped corn ferments and produces nitrogen dioxide, a yellow to brown-red gas.

This is more likely to occur when the weather is warm and the corn is green. The chemical process begins almost immediately and is completed within a few days. Thereafter, the danger disappears and the silo becomes safe for man and beast.

For years, men who worked within the silo while it was being filled became short of breath or developed a sense of tightness in the chest. Others coughed because of irritation of the throat and chest. Still others developed a serious pneumonia.

Discovery of the cause was delayed for many years because everyone believed the farm folklore that "silage stole all the oxygen from the air." But evidence began to appear that this was not the explanation. Some farmers noted a brownish or yellowish gas near the floor of the connecting silo room on the day after it was filled. The wife of a sick farmer reported that when she washed his clothes after he returned from the silo, the garments smelled as if a bleach had been placed in the water.

Children playing near the silo also coughed and now and then chickens and suckling pigs were found dead in the barn on the morning after the job was done. All these factors suggested that a chemical was responsible and subsequent studies proved it was nitrogen dioxide.

This gas also played a role in two hospital fires that occurred in Cleveland and Albany more than 25 years ago. In both tragedies a brownish gas was noted when the films in the X-ray department caught fire. In those days, X-rays were made on a nitrate celluloid photographic film which produced nitrogen dioxide when burned.

Many of the hospital deaths were traced to the poisonous effects of the gas. Since nitrogen dioxide is two and one-half times as heavy as air, it settles toward the ground. This made it particularly hazardous because the fumes contaminated the atmosphere along the hospital corridors. The patients, attendants, and firemen were exposed as they rushed through the hall and the mortality among this group was high.

There is no specific antidote for poisoning of this nature. The victim needs fresh air and when breathing is affected, artificial respiration must be started.

SMOKING HEARTBURN

REPLY

SPINAL ARTHRITIS

REPLY

Arthritis may be causing pressure by the vertebrae on the nerves leading to the legs.

REPLY

Persons who are predisposed to keloids develop ugly scars wherever the skin is traumatized. This includes tattooing.

FALLEN STOMACH

G. L. writes: Could a dropped stomach be the cause of keeping the weight down?

REPLY

No, but the opposite is true. Thin individuals have little fat in the back part of the abdominal cavity and as a result, the internal organs tend to sag. This is not harmful, however, because the stomach, for example, can stretch and is about to handle food regardless of its location. In this respect your fallen stomach has nothing to do with keeping your weight down unless you refer to your center of gravity.

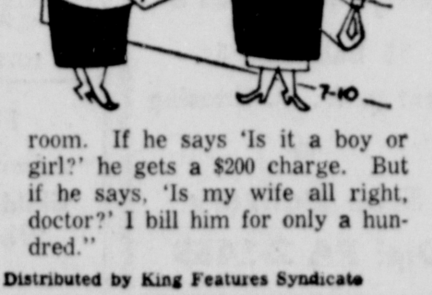
Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A gent strolling down Broadway noticed two rather prim old ladies hovering nervously outside a bar, and thought that "those nice old gals are trying to work up enough courage to enter." Then he overheard their conversation.

"Come on you spoilsport," urged one. "Let's crash the joint!"

"No, ma'am," insisted the other. "I say we skip this one."



They are singing the praises of an obstetrician in Dayton, Ohio who has two fixed charges for his services: $100 or $200. "Do you look up your patients' financial rating before you decide?" he was asked. "Not at all," the obstetrician answered. "I base my charge on the first question the father asks me when I come out of the delivery room. If he says 'Is it a boy or girl?' he gets a $200 charge. But if he says, 'Is my wife all right, doctor?' I bill him for only a hundred."

All Signs Fail

By Brother Barnabas

Yes, all signs fail in dry weather. Believe it or not, man hasn't yet been able to regulate the weather, earthquakes or volcanoes.

However, there are signs in other areas if we look for them. The yowling of a cat beneath your window at midnight is a sign of death—to the cat if he keeps it up.

If you see a man diligent (skillful) in his work, he will stand before kings; he will not stand before obscure men" (Proverbs 22:29).

Without being superstitious at all, we the people are influenced largely by signs — the dollar sign principally, but also by weather signs, market trends and "signs of the times."

Some say that the world is coming to an end very soon because everybody is writing a book or a colyum in the newspaper. They may have something.

Even the devil takes his cue from signs. It is said that "Satan trembles when he sees the weakest saint upon his knees." Mary, Queen of Scots, feared the prayers of John Knox more than an army of 10,000 men.

If one habitually spends more than he makes, he needs no other sign that he is headed for a destination that is spelled d-e-s-t-i-t-u-t-i-o-n.

When down to his last penny he will wend his way to the sign of the three balls where he will pawn his tools or his wife's wedding ring for money enough to pay the fiddler while he sings and dances:

Up and down the City Road,
In and out the Eagle,
That's the way the money goes-
Pop goes the weasel!

Think of the inconvenience of the city editor having to get his scissors back from the pawn broker before beginning his work, or the cobbler who had forfeited his last, or the tailor without his needle and thread.

An army general needed a private secretary, and he sent a lieutenant to find one. Three personable young ladies applied for the job.

They were asked in turn a simple question: What is 2 and 2? The first answered 4; the second said 22; the third didn't know.

Reporting back, the Lt. said the first was too mathematical, the second was too imaginative, the third too clever. The general said, "I'll take the blonde."

It's coming to be that an applicant for a job will have to be photographed, fingerprinted, phrenologized, hypnotized to learn all about his habits, whether married or single, whether he expects to marry the boss's daughter or work for a living.

Scientific tests are made to determine one's fitness for a particular job. A man will not make a good engineer if he is color-blind. A man will never become an apothecary if he thinks Sal Hepatica is a girl who works in the office.

He will never be a preacher if he thinks the Epistles are the wives of the Apostles. Nor will he be a grammarian if he thinks sipid and insipid are twins.

A four-leaf clover is often regarded as bringing good luck, and many people waste their time looking for them in the grass, but they do not fare as well as their neighbors who let their bees gather in the honey from the clover blossoms.

For a long time philosophers and naturalists have tried to locate in the human anatomy the organ for feeling and understanding. The heart was thought to be that organ by the ancient Hebrews, Egyptians and Greeks.

Others have found it in other parts of the body—the liver, the spleen, the head. The feet must have intelligence too, for what one lacks in his head he often has to make up with his feet.

Many words have filtered into our language descriptive of mental and spiritual qualities, such as hardheaded, bullheaded, pigheaded, coolheaded, and fatheaded, all of which we can identify among our acquaintances if not within ourselves.

But it remained for F. J. Gall at the end of the 18th Century, to make a diagram of the brain into 26 faculties, each of which could be located by feeling the "bumps" on the cranium.

If one were pugnacious there would be a bump back of the ear. There were other bumps, showing veneration, self-esteem, acquisitiveness, ideality, philoprogenitiveness, meaning love of children.

A certain phrenologist discovered an enlarged bump of pugnacity in one of his subjects, who yelled "Outch!" that's where my wife hit me over the head with a frying pan!"

In my gawky youthful days I made a study of phrenology, then in vogue, and made readings of my family and friends. In the home of a favorite aunt, a preacher's wife who happened to be calling asked me to feel the bumps on her head and tell their meaning.

She enjoyed the performance, but her future both here and hereafter had been fixed since she had married a Presbyterian minister and was ticketed through the Pearly Gates by foreordination.

Yankees Blast Indians, 10-0, Up Lead To 8½ Games

Sturdivant Limits Tribe To Two Hits

New York Gets 15; Skowron Hits 3-Run Homer, Has 4 RBI's

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Young Tom Sturdivant breezed to his eighth victory with a two-hitter and Bill Skowron batted in four runs with a single and a home run as the New York Yankees walloped the Cleveland Indians 10-0 tonight. It was the seventh straight success for the Bombers and hiked their bulging American League lead to 8½ games.

A five-run seventh inning, in which the Yankees swatted a double and six singles while sending 11 men to the plate, put the game well beyond reach of the third-place Tribe and guaranteed Early Wynn's fifth defeat in 15 decisions.

The only hits Sturdivant gave up tonight were a two-out, fourth-inning single by Preston Ward and a one-out, fifth-inning ground-rule double by Jim Hegan. Sturdivant walked 3, struck out 4 and retired the last 14 men he faced.

Ward played first for the Indians in place of Vic Wertz, injured in yesterday's game.

Skowron lined an RBI—single in the first inning off Wynn, then hoisted the Yankees into a 4-0 lead in the sixth when he hit his seventh homer after a walk and Yogi Berra's single.

The Yanks uncovered the meat of their 15-hit attack in the seventh when four straight singles and an error scored three runs and brought on reliefer Don Mossi.

The 8½-game edge the Yanks now hold over second-place Chicago and the Indians is their best advantage since 1953. They now also have won six straight from Cleveland.

Joe Says Terps Good • • • Black Cats On 13th

By C. V. BURNS

SINCE returning from England where she played in the Curtis Cup matches and the British Amateur tournament, Mary Ann Downey, Maryland's top woman golfer, hung up two new course records within four days.

Mary Ann Downey

The three-times winner of the Cumberland Country Club Invitation Tournament (1953, 1954, 1955) and owner of the first Old Export Bowl donated by the Cumberland Brewing Company, carded a two-under-par 73 to set up a new record at the Rolling Road Golf Club then fired another 73 for a new mark at the Sparrows Point Country Club.

TONY FRANCIS, chairman of the trapshooting committee of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, reports that the West Virginia State Shoot will be staged at White Sulphur Springs July 27, 28 and 29.

Last year's event, the 35th, drew a record turnout of 105 gunners to Ridgeley which was host for the 10th time in 12 years.

Defending champions are J. Calvin Collis, Bunker Hill, 16-yard singles; H. A. "Pete" Downey, Martinsburg, handicap, and Edgar H. McDonald, Headsville, doubles and all-around.

JOE BLAIR says there is no sense in kidding anybody—Maryland will have another fine team this fall.

"The lone position that might dampen the bright outlook is the ends, where five graduated," writes the Terps' publicity director.

"From tackle to tackle the Terps probably haven't been so strong since 1953. Mike Sandusky leads the tackle corps with Al Wharton and Ed Heuring. Jack Davis leads the strong guards. Junior Gene Alderton, of Cumberland, will have no peer at the pivot post. With great fullback Tom Selep returning, Frank Tamburello is at quarter, Fred Hamilton moved to halfback."

PENNSYLVANIA has decreed there will be no antlerless deer season this year.

This is the second time in six years no hunting of doe will be permitted. Last year's season was Dec. 12-13 with 240,250 licenses issued.

The regular deer hunting season will be December 3-16 while the bow and arrow season dates are Oct. 1-19.

ONE MONTH from tomorrow the racing season on Maryland's minor ovals gets under way.

Hagerstown's 12-day session opens Aug. 15 and ends Aug. 28, followed by Timonium Aug. 29-Sept. 11; Cumberland Sept. 12-25; Bel Air, Sept. 26-Oct. 9 and Marlboro, Oct. 10-23.

CAT LOVERS were incensed the other day over a newspaper advertisement by the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club announcing only 50 cents admission would be charged for anyone showing up for a Leaf game with a dead black cat, Friday, July 13.

The club was flooded with phone calls objecting to the advertisement which it described as "just a crazy gimmick."

A Humane Society official described the ad as "ridiculous and stupid." He said "children will go out stealing and killing cats."

"No harm was meant, but we could have used better judgment," the club's public relations director said.

One newspaper headlined the story:

"Somebody's Puss is Red."

THIRTEEN games have been decided by the margin of a single run in the Pen-Mar Baseball League this season and Barrelville has figured in six and won 'em all.

The front-running Bombers have copped two of the five 10 inning games recorded to date.

OF THE EIGHT teams in the Baltimore Orioles' farm system, Columbus (Ga.) is blessed with the most genuine big league prospects, according to Farm Director James McLaughlin.

The stickouts on the Sally League club, according to "Mac," are pitchers Dick Fitzgerald, Art Kay, Cumberland's Jim Clingan, who is now ailing with a shoulder separation, and John Archer, First baseman Buddy Barker and Outfielder Lenny Green.

Clingan was 7-2 for the season and was having his best year in the minors when a collision with another player put him out of commission.

IT'S REPORTED that Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns' coach, won't agree this year to permit the College All-Stars to use a kicking tee in their Chicago meeting.

The pros don't use the tee but Brown waived the rule last year with the result Tad Weed kicked the Browns into submission, 30-27.

WHEN Casey Stengel inserted Jimmy Piersall into the All-Star game, he remarked: "That fellow can get anything they hit near him. The trouble is he's weak on those balls hit out of the park."

CHARLES TOWN may open the 1957 racing season on New Year's Day and abandon its December meeting, most of which would be in conflict with Pimlico.

Cubs Batter Friend, Beat Pirates, 7-6

Hits By Dee Fondy, Banks Decide Game

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Shortstop Ernie Banks tied a major league record by playing his 394th consecutive game since breaking in as a rookie in 1953 and used a seventh inning single to power the Chicago Cubs to a 7-6 win over Pittsburgh here today.

Friend Hit Hard

The Cubs pounded Friend, who won last Tuesday's All-Star game, for 15 hits during Bob's seven inning tenure and saddled him with his eighth loss.

It was also Friend's fifth straight setback since posting his 11th win June 16 against St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

The Pirates jumped on Chicago starter Warren Hacker for three runs in the first and added a fourth in the second. Hacker then managed to still the Pirate bats until the seventh when Friend opened with a home run. The Pirates added an unearned run on Eddie Winceniak's error to take a 6-5 edge.

The Cubs, who scored once in the first and added four in the fourth on six singles, five of them coming in a row, pulled the issue out of the fire in the Chicago seventh.

Gene Baker singled with one out. Then Fondy and Banks took charge, and their success gave Turk Lown his third win against as many losses.

Orioles Obtain Morrie Martin

Richards also announced he was asking waivers on infielder Bobbie Adams for the purpose of outright and unconditional release. Adams came to the Birds last winter from Chicago, and has been hampered by injuries. In 41 games he was hitting .225.

The 33-year-old Martin was first with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1951. He went to the White Sox in July, 1954, and last year won 2 and lost 3, pitching in 37 games primarily in relief roles. This year he has made 10 relief appearances, winning one and losing none.

He will join four ex-Chicagoans who moved to the Birds earlier in the season—third baseman George Kell, outfielder Bob Nieman, and pitchers Connie Johnson and Mike Fornieles.

Yankees Blast Indians, 10-0, Up Lead To 8½ Games

Sturdivant Limits Tribe To Two Hits

New York Gets 15; Skowron Hits 3-Run Homer, Has 4 RBI's

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Young Tom Sturdivant breezed to his eighth victory with a two-hitter and Bill Skowron batted in four runs with a single and a home run as the New York Yankees walloped the Cleveland Indians 10-0 tonight. It was the seventh straight success for the Bombers and hiked their bulging American League lead to 8½ games.

A five-run seventh inning, in which the Yankees swatted a double and six singles while sending 11 men to the plate, put the game well beyond reach of the third-place Tribe and guaranteed Early Wynn's fifth defeat in 15 decisions.

The only hits Sturdivant gave up tonight were a two-out, fourth-inning single by Preston Ward and a one-out, fifth-inning ground-rule double by Jim Hegan. Sturdivant walked 3, struck out 4 and retired the last 14 men he faced.

Ward played first for the Indians in place of Vic Wertz, injured in yesterday's game.

Skowron lined an RBI—single in the first inning off Wynn, then hoisted the Yankees into a 4-0 lead in the sixth when he hit his seventh homer after a walk and Yogi Berra's single.

The Yanks uncovered the meat of their 15-hit attack in the seventh when four straight singles and an error scored three runs and brought on reliefer Don Mossi.

The 8½-game edge the Yanks now hold over second-place Chicago and the Indians is their best advantage since 1953. They now also have won six straight from Cleveland.

Mary Sets New Marks • • • White Sulphur Shoot

Joe Says Terps Good • • • Black Cats On 13th

By C. V. BURNS

SINCE returning from England where she played in the Curtis Cup matches and the British Amateur tournament, Mary Ann Downey, Maryland's top woman golfer, hung up two new course records within four days.

Mary Ann Downey

The three-times winner of the Cumberland Country Club Invitation Tournament (1953, 1954, 1955) and owner of the first Old Export Bowl donated by the Cumberland Brewing Company, carded a two-under-par 73 to set up a new record at the Rolling Road Golf Club then fired another 73 for a new mark at the Sparrows Point Country Club.

TONY FRANCIS, chairman of the trapshooting committee of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, reports that the West Virginia State Shoot will be staged at White Sulphur Springs July 27, 28 and 29.

Last year's event, the 35th, drew a record turnout of 105 gunners to Ridgeley which was host for the 10th time in 12 years.

Defending champions are J. Calvin Collis, Bunker Hill, 16-yard singles; H. A. "Pete" Downey, Martinsburg, handicap, and Edgar H. McDonald, Headsville, doubles and all-around.

JOE BLAIR says there is no sense in kidding anybody—Maryland will have another fine team this fall.

"The lone position that might dampen the bright outlook is the ends, where five graduated," writes the Terps' publicity director.

"From tackle to tackle the Terps probably haven't been so strong since 1953. Mike Sandusky leads the tackle corps with Al Wharton and Ed Heuring. Jack Davis leads the strong guards. Junior Gene Alderton, of Cumberland, will have no peer at the pivot post. With great fullback Tom Selep returning, Frank Tamburello is at quarter, Fred Hamilton moved to halfback."

PENNSYLVANIA has decreed there will be no antlerless deer season this year.

This is the second time in six years no hunting of doe will be permitted. Last year's season was Dec. 12-13 with 240,250 licenses issued.

The regular deer hunting season will be December 3-16 while the bow and arrow season dates are Oct. 1-19.

ONE MONTH from tomorrow the racing season on Maryland's minor ovals gets under way.

Hagerstown's 12-day session opens Aug. 15 and ends Aug. 28, followed by Timonium Aug. 29-Sept. 11; Cumberland Sept. 12-25; Bel Air, Sept. 26-Oct. 9 and Marlboro, Oct. 10-23.

CAT LOVERS were incensed the other day over a newspaper advertisement by the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club announcing only 50 cents admission would be charged for anyone showing up for a Leaf game with a dead black cat, Friday, July 13.

The club was flooded with phone calls objecting to the advertisement which it described as "just a crazy gimmick."

A Humane Society official described the ad as "ridiculous and stupid." He said "children will go out stealing and killing cats."

"No harm was meant, but we could have used better judgment," the club's public relations director said.

One newspaper headlined the story:

"Somebody's Puss is Red."

THIRTEEN games have been decided by the margin of a single run in the Pen-Mar Baseball League this season and Barrelville has figured in six and won 'em all.

The front-running Bombers have copped two of the five 10 inning games recorded to date.

OF THE EIGHT teams in the Baltimore Orioles' farm system, Columbus (Ga.) is blessed with the most genuine big league prospects, according to Farm Director James McLaughlin.

The stickouts on the Sally League club, according to "Mac," are pitchers Dick Fitzgerald, Art Kay, Cumberland's Jim Clingan, who is now ailing with a shoulder separation, and John Archer, First baseman Buddy Barker and Outfielder Lenny Green.

Clingan was 7-2 for the season and was having his best year in the minors when a collision with another player put him out of commission.

IT'S REPORTED that Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns' coach, won't agree this year to permit the College All-Stars to use a kicking tee in their Chicago meeting.

The pros don't use the tee but Brown waived the rule last year with the result Tad Weed kicked the Browns into submission, 30-27.

WHEN Casey Stengel inserted Jimmy Piersall into the All-Star game, he remarked: "That fellow can get anything they hit near him. The trouble is he's weak on those balls hit out of the park."

CHARLES TOWN may open the 1957 racing season on New Year's Day and abandon its December meeting, most of which would be in conflict with Pimlico.

Cubs Batter Friend, Beat Pirates, 7-6

Hits By Dee Fondy, Banks Decide Game

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Shortstop Ernie Banks tied a major league record by playing his 394th consecutive game since breaking in as a rookie in 1953 and used a seventh inning single to power the Chicago Cubs to a 7-6 win over Pittsburgh here today.

Friend Hit Hard

The Cubs pounded Friend, who won last Tuesday's All-Star game, for 15 hits during Bob's seven inning tenure and saddled him with his eighth loss.

It was also Friend's fifth straight setback since posting his 11th win June 16 against St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

The Pirates jumped on Chicago starter Warren Hacker for three runs in the first and added a fourth in the second. Hacker then managed to still the Pirate bats until the seventh when Friend opened with a home run. The Pirates added an unearned run on Eddie Winceniak's error to take a 6-5 edge.

The Cubs, who scored once in the first and added four in the fourth on six singles, five of them coming in a row, pulled the issue out of the fire in the Chicago seventh.

Gene Baker singled with one out. Then Fondy and Banks took charge, and their success gave Turk Lown his third win against as many losses.

HEADS RACING—John Franklin Ambrose is the chairman of the West Virginia Racing Commission which supervises the thoroughbred sport at Charles Town, Wheeling and Waterford Park. Ambrose is actually right "at home" now that the Charles Town track is running on its 39-day summer meeting. The white-haired 56-year-old chief was born and reared in Jefferson county and has been associated with horses most of his life. Gov. Marland appointed Ambrose to the commission in 1955 and moved him up to the top spot this year. Ambrose owns five large farms, an auto agency and is a bank director. He also breeds thoroughbreds and purebred Angus cattle.

Orioles Obtain Morrie Martin

Richards also announced he was asking waivers on infielder Bobbie Adams for the purpose of outright and unconditional release. Adams came to the Birds last winter from Chicago, and has been hampered by injuries. In 41 games he was hitting .225.

The 33-year-old Martin was first with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1951. He went to the White Sox in July, 1954, and last year won 2 and lost 3, pitching in 37 games primarily in relief roles. This year he has made 10 relief appearances, winning one and losing none.

He will join four ex-Chicagoans who moved to the Birds earlier in the season—third baseman George Kell, outfielder Bob Nieman, and pitchers Connie Johnson and Mike Fornieles.

In the first game, continued from the fourth inning, the Eagles camef rom behind with a 6-run rally in the sixth and defeated the Silkmen, 8-6, but in the nightcap affair, Jim "Dusty" Rhodes, who "got better as it got darker," turned back the Eagles by the score of 1-0.

Nine Entered In New Jersey Handicap Test

Winner Will Take $79,200; Telecast Set For 4:30 EST

OCEANPORT, N.J., July 13 (AP)—Millionaire Nashua and eight others were entered today for the $100,000-added Monmouth Park Handicap tomorrow.

The world's richest horse has top weight of 129 pounds for the mile and one quarter spin. He must concede chunks of weight to all of his opponents. But if Mr. Millions runs like he did while winning the Suburban Handicap on July 4 it should be a gilt edged joyride for Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, Eddie Arcaro, and co.

Owners must shell out $1,000 each to start in Monmouth's richest race, and before the 4:12 p.m. (EST) post-time someone may think better of things. However, if all face the starter, the big handicap will gross $115,400 with the winner grabbing $79,200.

Most horsemen expect Christopher T. Chenery's Manotick, only filly in the field, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Markus Mielleux to offer the chief threat. Oddly enough, Manotick is the second high weight with 111 pounds, while Mielleux has 107.

Others in the race, to be televised and broadcast (NBC-TV 4-4:30 p. m. EST) are Impasse, 109, from the Valley Farm of Larry Katz; Mr. First, 108, owned by Joseph Gianguilio's Castle Rock Farm; Joseph M. Roebling's Cedar Hill, 107; Cavort, 108, from the Clearwater stable of E. A. Roberts and Red Leatherbury; the Ruffalo Brothers' Flying Chief, 107, and Seven Chances, 105, from Mrs. David Marx' Chal-Mar Farm.

Nears Arky's Mark

When Dale Long hits his 19th homerun this season, he will tie a 21-year-old Pirate club record for the most homeruns hit in a season by a lefthanded batter. The record of 19 was set in 1935 by Arky Vaughan. Dale, incidentally, has hit a homerun in all eight of the National League parks this year, while teammate Frank Thomas has found the range in all fields but County Stadium, Milwaukee.

Porterhouse, Mister Gus In Cup Race

Six Will Oppose Swaps; Winner To Collect $102,100

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 13 (AP) — Swaps, who has broken three world records and tied another this year, will face six challengers in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap tomorrow.

Swaps now holds world marks for a mile, a mile and 70 yards, a mile and one-sixteenth and is coholder at a mile and one-eighth.

The Gold Cup, with its guaranteed $100,000 net to the winner, is his first run at a mile and one-quarter this year, a classic distance where the record is 1.59 4-5, established in 1950 at Golden Gate Field by the Irish wonder, Noor.

Main challenge to Swaps probably will come from Mrs. Elizabeth Lunn's entry of Porterhouse, who handed Swaps his lone loss in six races this year, and Mister Gus. The latter chased the 4-year-old Swaps to record fame in his last two trips at Hollywood Park.

Travis M. Kerr's Bobby Brocato, who has also done his share of chasing Swaps, is another contender. Three distant longshots, Honeys Alibi, Beau Busher and Blue Volt, round out the field.

If all seven start, the Gold Cup will be worth a gross $61,100. The winner actually gets a check for $102,100, the $2,100 representing repayment of fees for nominating, entering and starting. Second, third and fourth places are worth $30,000, $20,000 and $10,000.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, July 13 (INS)—It may be that more hokum comes out of Hollywood than anywhere else.

But we venture to say that sports, particularly baseball, runs the movies a close race.

We have in mind the terrible tripe put out about baseball "geniuses" and "master minds" and "brilliant strategists." These oft-quoted words are invariably used in connection with managers of ball clubs.

Now aside from the ability to get the best work out of his men, as so many thousands of unsung factory foremen do, what particular brilliancy is required to run a ball club?

Selecting pitchers with the aid of three or four coaches? Putting on the hit and run? Or the bunt? Or giving the take sign to a hitter? A smart Little Leaguer could do just about as well—just as a 12-year-old could do as well as any adult in judging a fight.

We undoubtedly are the greatest nation of hero worshipers on earth. We also are the greatest collection of gullible saps when it comes to swallowing sports pap.

We traveled with the Yanks in 1927 when little Miller Huggins managed the club. That was the year the Yanks won 110 games and Babe Ruth hit his 60 homers.

Huggins was as smart a manager as we ever knew, but he had no illusions about his job. To him it was a joy ride.

When we'd ask him who would pitch next day, he'd say:

"What difference does it make? You name him if you want."

The late John McGraw, a martinet, and Wilbert Robinson, most easy going of managers, each won pennants.

McGraw insisted on calling every pitch in a game for most of his pitchers. Robinson let the players do as they please. He even let Babe Herman pick the lineup one day.

McGraw probably was the first manager dubbed as a "master mind" and "baseball genius." He was a shrewd man. And more than once we heard him refer to Robinson as a "dumb cluck." But the fact is Uncle Robby was just as successful and got just as much out of his available playing material as anybody could.

We recall one day when Shanty Hogan was catching and Virgil Barnes pitching for the Giants, and McGraw was telling Shanty what pitch to call for.

Barnes was going great using his fast ball, but after a few innings McGraw got suspicious that Barnes wasn't pitching what McGraw wanted. Shanty assured him McGraw's orders were being followed, but later he told us with great glee that he and Barnes were working just as they wanted to work.

So much for genius at work.

Hartack Will Pilot Fabius

Swoon's Son Also In Arlington Race

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Preakness winner Fabius, with America's hottest jockey astride, is favored to conquer seven—or possibly, eight—rivals in tomorrow's $100,000 added Arlington Classic.

The Calumet Farm ace will be piloted in the rich mile chase for 3-year-olds by Bill Hartack, riding sensation of the current Arlington Park season.

Fabius, who finished second to Needles in the Kentucky Derby and was third in the Belmont, must outrun Swoon's Son, unbeaten in four 1956 starts and twice a winner over Fabius last year.

Other notable in the race which will gross $159,325 if all nine start and net the winner $103,000, include C. V. Whitney's Head Man and Claiborne Farm's fast filly, Doubledogdare.

Cumberland Defeat Would Tie Up Race

Midland Post will be striving to tie Fort Cumberland Post for first place in the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League when the runner-up club engages the current leaders today at 2:30 o'clock in Midland.

Cumberland, setting the pace with a 6-1 record, suffered its only setback in Midland on July 3 when the home team won by the score of 3-1 behind Dave Richards who earned the verdict over Bob Paye. Cumberland won the series opener on June 23 when Jesse Markley decisioned Richards, 4-1.

Markley, the winningest pitcher in the league with a 4-0 record, will likely work on the firing line for Fort Cumberland Post today. In addition to Midland, Jesse has turned back Frostburg three times, 1-0, 18-2 and 8-0. Ronnie Winters, who won five and lost one for Fort Hill High's championship team this year, has been working out with the local Legion nine and may see action in the closing weeks of the season. Bob Paye and Charley Imes round out the local pitching staff.

The teams will be playing their eighth game on a 12-game schedule today. Midland occupies second place with a 5-2 record followed by Frostburg 2-5 and Oakland 1-6. The season closes on July 24 on which date Midland plays here.

Holman Is Barred From Chicago Bout

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP) — An Illinois State Athletic Commission physician today banned Chicago heavyweight Johnny Holman from participating in a fight scheduled at the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night with Willie Pastrano.

Dr. John H. Pribble said Holman is suffering from an infected cyst over his left eye.

Forward Pass Costs $14

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia football coach Art Lewis saw his 15-year-old son Cammy catch a forward pass worth $14. His son, playing in his yard, ran into the fender of a parked car. Damage: $14. The six-foot 185-pound younster will be a fullback candidate at Morgantown High this fall.

Jim Piersall's Single In 8th Beats Chicago

Jim Wilson Loses To Boston Sox, 5-4

BOSTON, July 13 (AP)—Jim Piersall proved the man of the moment for the second time in as many games today when he drove home the winning run as the Boston Red Sox whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Last night Piersall walloped a ninth inning two-run homer for a 3-1 Boston triumph over these same Chicagoans.

Wins Game In 8th

Piersall's game winning hit, a Texas Leaguer into right, capped a two-run rally after two were out in the eighth inning.

The Bostonians literally had given the White Sox their first runs in the opening inning as the infield made three errors on as many chances, allowing Chicago to tally without benefit of a hit.

Losing righthander Jim Wilson, who blanked the Red Sox 8-0 here June 9th, had a no-hitter going until Sammy White scratched a harmless, two-out single in the fifth.

Ted Williams began the winning rally by drawing a walk in the eighth after two were out. Billy Consolo ran for Ted and raced to third when Mickey Vernon singled to right.

Jensen Ties Score

Nine Entered In New Jersey Handicap Test

Winner Will Take $79,200; Telecast Set For 4:30 EST

OCEANPORT, N.J., July 13 (AP)—Millionaire Nashua and eight others were entered today for the $100,000-added Monmouth Park Handicap tomorrow.

The world's richest horse has top weight of 129 pounds for the mile and one quarter spin. He must concede chunks of weight to all of his opponents. But if Mr. Millions runs like he did while winning the Suburban Handicap on July 4 it should be a gilt edged joyride for Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, Eddie Arcaro, and co.

Owners must shell out $1,000 each to start in Monmouth's richest race, and before the 4:12 p.m. (EST) post-time someone may think better of things. However, if all face the starter, the big handicap will gross $115,400 with the winner grabbing $79,200.

Most horsemen expect Christopher T. Chenery's Manotick, only filly in the field, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Markus Mielleux to offer the chief threat. Oddly enough, Manotick is the second high weight with 111 pounds, while Mielleux has 107.

Others in the race, to be televised and broadcast (NBC-TV 4-4:30 p. m. EST) are Impasse, 109, from the Valley Farm of Larry Katz; Mr. First, 108, owned by Joseph Gianguilio's Castle Rock Farm; Joseph M. Roebling's Cedar Hill, 107; Cavort, 108, from the Clearwater stable of E. A. Roberts and Red Leatherbury; the Ruffalo Brothers' Flying Chief, 107, and Seven Chances, 105, from Mrs. David Marx' Chal-Mar Farm.

Nears Arky's Mark

When Dale Long hits his 19th homerun this season, he will tie a 21-year-old Pirate club record for the most homeruns hit in a season by a lefthanded batter. The record of 19 was set in 1935 by Arky Vaughan. Dale, incidentally, has hit a homerun in all eight of the National League parks this year, while teammate Frank Thomas has found the range in all fields but County Stadium, Milwaukee.

Porterhouse, Mister Gus In Cup Race

Six Will Oppose Swaps; Winner To Collect $102,100

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 13 (AP) — Swaps, who has broken three world records and tied another this year, will face six challengers in the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap tomorrow.

Swaps now holds world marks for a mile, a mile and 70 yards, a mile and one-sixteenth and is coholder at a mile and one-eighth.

The Gold Cup, with its guaranteed $100,000 net to the winner, is his first run at a mile and one-quarter this year, a classic distance where the record is 1.59 4-5, established in 1950 at Golden Gate Field by the Irish wonder, Noor.

Main challenge to Swaps probably will come from Mrs. Elizabeth Lunn's entry of Porterhouse, who handed Swaps his lone loss in six races this year, and Mister Gus. The latter chased the 4-year-old Swaps to record fame in his last two trips at Hollywood Park.

Travis M. Kerr's Bobby Brocato, who has also done his share of chasing Swaps, is another contender. Three distant longshots, Honeys Alibi, Beau Busher and Blue Volt, round out the field.

If all seven start, the Gold Cup will be worth a gross $61,100. The winner actually gets a check for $102,100, the $2,100 representing repayment of fees for nominating, entering and starting. Second, third and fourth places are worth $30,000, $20,000 and $10,000.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, July 13 (INS)—It may be that more hokum comes out of Hollywood than anywhere else.

But we venture to say that sports, particularly baseball, runs the movies a close race.

We have in mind the terrible tripe put out about baseball "geniuses" and "master minds" and "brilliant strategists." These oft-quoted words are invariably used in connection with managers of ball clubs.

Now aside from the ability to get the best work out of his men, as so many thousands of unsung factory foremen do, what particular brilliancy is required to run a ball club?

Selecting pitchers with the aid of three or four coaches? Putting on the hit and run? Or the bunt? Or giving the take sign to a hitter? A smart Little Leaguer could do just about as well—just as a 12-year-old could do as well as any adult in judging a fight.

We undoubtedly are the greatest nation of hero worshipers on earth. We also are the greatest collection of gullible saps when it comes to swallowing sports pap.

We traveled with the Yanks in 1927 when little Miller Huggins managed the club. That was the year the Yanks won 110 games and Babe Ruth hit his 60 homers.

Huggins was as smart a manager as we ever knew, but he had no illusions about his job. To him it was a joy ride.

When we'd ask him who would pitch next day, he'd say:

"What difference does it make? You name him if you want."

McGraw insisted on calling every pitch in a game for most of his pitchers. Robinson let the players do as they please. He even let Babe Herman pick the lineup one day.

McGraw probably was the first manager dubbed as a "master mind" and "baseball genius." He was a shrewd man. And more than once we heard him refer to Robinson as a "dumb cluck." But the fact is Uncle Robby was just as successful and got just as much out of his available playing material as anybody could.

We recall one day when Shanty Hogan was catching and Virgil Barnes pitching for the Giants, and McGraw was telling Shanty what pitch to call for.

Barnes was going great using his fast ball, but after a few innings McGraw got suspicious that Barnes wasn't pitching what McGraw wanted. Shanty assured him McGraw's orders were being followed, but later he told us with great glee that he and Barnes were working just as they wanted to work.

Wesleyan Repeats

The 1956 baseball season at West Virginia Wesleyan College has proven to be most successful for Coach "Hank" Ellis' nine. This year was the second in a row the "Bobcats" have walked off with the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference crown. Last year they recorded a record of 10 wins and 1 loss, while during the 1956 season their record was unblemished in ten contests. As an overall record they posted a 12-2 mark for their efforts. Both of the defeats coming at the hands of non-conference foes.

Lost Only Game There May 13; Pen-Mar Has Eight Tilts Listed

Barrelville's Bombers haven't lost a game since Sunday, May 13 when they suffered their only defeat of the season at Centerville, Pa., by the score of 8-6.

Since that setback the Bombers have reeled off 14 wins in a row, including a 4-3 decision over Centerville in the second game of the series at Barrelville.

Today the Bombers will try to make it 15 straight but they'll have to hurdle Centerville on its home field.

Manager "Buck" Fiorita's club has won 16 out of 17 games played and it holds a five-game margin over the runner-up Zihlman nine. Centerville has dropped three games in a row and is now in the second division with eight wins and nine losses.

Tomorrow Barrelville plays host to the Grantsville Sluggers, who already have dropped 6-5 and 13-7 decisions to the league leaders. Mt. Savage is at Hyndman, Flintstone at Wellersburg and Centerville at Zihlman in other Sunday contests.

Umpiring assignments for today and tomorrow are:

Today — R. Minnicks and J. Michaels at Mt. Savage; B. McKenzie and C. Snider at Zihlman; J. Stuckey and V. Reynolds at Grantsville; Joe and George Geatz at Centerville.

Sunday — Joe Geatz and B. McKenzie at Hyndman; K. Grimes and B. Frantz at Barrelville; G. Zimmerman and C. Snider at Wellersburg; G. Schoenadel and R. Minnicks at Zihlman.

Hartack Will Pilot Fabius

Swoon's Son Also In Arlington Race

CHICAGO, July 13 (AP)—Preakness winner Fabius, with America's hottest jockey astride, is favored to conquer seven—or possibly, eight—rivals in tomorrow's $100,000 added Arlington Classic.

The Calumet Farm ace will be piloted in the rich mile chase for 3-year-olds by Bill Hartack, riding sensation of the current Arlington Park season.

Fabius, who finished second to Needles in the Kentucky Derby and was third in the Belmont, must outrun Swoon's Son, unbeaten in four 1956 starts and twice a winner over Fabius last year.

Other notable in the race which will gross $159,325 if all nine start and net the winner $103,000, include C. V. Whitney's Head Man and Claiborne Farm's fast filly, Doubledogdare.

Cumberland Defeat Would Tie Up Race

Midland Post will be striving to tie Fort Cumberland Post for first place in the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League when the runner-up club engages the current leaders today at 2:30 o'clock in Midland.

Cumberland, setting the pace with a 6-1 record, suffered its only setback in Midland on July 3 when the home team won by the score of 3-1 behind Dave Richards who earned the verdict over Bob Paye. Cumberland won the series opener on June 23 when Jesse Markley decisioned Richards, 4-1.

Markley, the winningest pitcher in the league with a 4-0 record, will likely work on the firing line for Fort Cumberland Post today. In addition to Midland, Jesse has turned back Frostburg three times, 1-0, 18-2 and 8-0. Ronnie Winters, who won five and lost one for Fort Hill High's championship team this year, has been working out with the local Legion nine and may see action in the closing weeks of the season. Bob Paye and Charley Imes round out the local pitching staff.

The teams will be playing their eighth game on a 12-game schedule today. Midland occupies second place with a 5-2 record followed by Frostburg 2-5 and Oakland 1-6. The season closes on July 24 on which date Midland plays here.

Jim Piersall's Single In 8th Beats Chicago

Jim Wilson Loses To Boston Sox, 5-4

BOSTON, July 13 (AP)—Jim Piersall proved the man of the moment for the second time in as many games today when he drove home the winning run as the Boston Red Sox whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Last night Piersall walloped a ninth inning two-run homer for a 3-1 Boston triumph over these same Chicagoans.

Wins Game In 8th

Piersall's game winning hit, a Texas Leaguer into right, capped a two-run rally after two were out in the eighth inning.

The Bostonians literally had given the White Sox their first runs in the opening inning as the infield made three errors on as many chances, allowing Chicago to tally without benefit of a hit.

Losing righthander Jim Wilson, who blanked the Red Sox 8-0 here June 9th, had a no-hitter going until Sammy White scratched a harmless, two-out single in the fifth.

Ted Williams began the winning rally by drawing a walk in the eighth after two were out. Billy Consolo ran for Ted and raced to third when Mickey Vernon singled to right.

Jensen Ties Score

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Religion And War

Religion has always been a highly salable commodity both in the movies where Cecil B. DeMille has made a couple of fortunes out of both Testaments, and in the bookstores where best sellers almost always include a couple of books related in some ways to religion.

Naturally, the television people have not been blind to this happy mixture of box office and uplift, but no one has ever managed a TV religious program that has caused the people to flock to it as they have to the bookstores or to the movies. One of the most spirited attempts so far has been ABC TV's "Crossroads" (ABC-TV 8:30 p. m., EDT Fridays) which has won a number of prizes, largely, I think for high purpose rather than achievement.

"Crossroads" is a frankly commercial series based, according to the narrator, on true stories of the adventures of priests, ministers and rabbis. If you see two or three of them, you're likely to come away with the impression that the men of the cloth, in addition to conducting the spiritual affairs of the parish, have also to be pretty good private eyes, lawyers and even cloak-and-dagger intelligence operatives. The emphasis is likely to fall on their adventurous activities rather than their spiritual ones, though, of course, there's a good deal of that, too.

As an example of the sort of thing that clerics run into, a recent one concerned a rabbi who is giving spiritual comfort to a young man doomed to the chair for murder. It is the rabbi's conviction that the young man didn't do the actual killing, though he was unquestionably part of the bunch that committed armed robbery preceding it.

After a bit of vigorous sleuthing, the rabbi managed to save the young man from the electric chair. However, before this laudable accomplishment, there was a good deal of tough hoodlum talk, some activity with a switch blade, and a shooting of a cop—none of them activities of a specially pleasant or spiritual nature.

Another one of the "Crossroads" programs concerned a Methodist minister who got entangled in the affairs of the wife of a Korean GI. The lady had fallen victim to the smooth palaver of a phony prophet, who, by means of faked tables and mysteriously opening doors and one thing and another, was mulcting a bunch of doppy dames out of their money. With the assistance of a cop and a GI, the minister breaks up that racket and restores the girl to her husband.

One of the forthcoming dramas is about a Baptist minister who smuggles Bibles through the Iron Curtain. That should give you some idea of the sort of plots that occupy the attention of "Crossroads," none of them likely to cause any conversions in the home audience, or even to cause much soul-searching. The reason is that, in spite of their high-minded aims, they are pretty routine dramas with some painfully ordinary writing. Some good actors, including Paul Kelly, Luther Adler, Pat O'Brien, Vincent Price, Arthur Franz and Richard Denning, have struggled manfully with the roles of ministers, rabbis and priests on the program, but, possibly because of the limitations of the material, I have yet to see anything I'd call a memorable performance.

Religion And War

Religion has always been a highly salable commodity both in the movies where Cecil B. DeMille has made a couple of fortunes out of both Testaments, and in the bookstores where best sellers almost always include a couple of books related in some ways to religion.

Naturally, the television people have not been blind to this happy mixture of box office and uplift, but no one has ever managed a TV religious program that has caused the people to flock to it as they have to the bookstores or to the movies. One of the most spirited attempts so far has been ABC TV's "Crossroads" (ABC-TV 8:30 p. m., EDT Fridays) which has won a number of prizes, largely, I think for high purpose rather than achievement.

"Crossroads" is a frankly commercial series based, according to the narrator, on true stories of the adventures of priests, ministers and rabbis. If you see two or three of them, you're likely to come away with the impression that the men of the cloth, in addition to conducting the spiritual affairs of the parish, have also to be pretty good private eyes, lawyers and even cloak-and-dagger intelligence operatives. The emphasis is likely to fall on their adventurous activities rather than their spiritual ones, though, of course, there's a good deal of that, too.

As an example of the sort of thing that clerics run into, a recent one concerned a rabbi who is giving spiritual comfort to a young man doomed to the chair for murder. It is the rabbi's conviction that the young man didn't do the actual killing, though he was unquestionably part of the bunch that committed armed robbery preceding it.

After a bit of vigorous sleuthing, the rabbi managed to save the young man from the electric chair. However, before this laudable accomplishment, there was a good deal of tough hoodlum talk, some activity with a switch blade, and a shooting of a cop—none of them activities of a specially pleasant or spiritual nature.

Another one of the "Crossroads" programs concerned a Methodist minister who got entangled in the affairs of the wife of a Korean GI. The lady had fallen victim to the smooth palaver of a phony prophet, who, by means of faked tables and mysteriously opening doors and one thing and another, was mulcting a bunch of doppy dames out of their money. With the assistance of a cop and a GI, the minister breaks up that racket and restores the girl to her husband.

One of the forthcoming dramas is about a Baptist minister who smuggles Bibles through the Iron Curtain. That should give you some idea of the sort of plots that occupy the attention of "Crossroads," none of them likely to cause any conversions in the home audience, or even to cause much soul-searching. The reason is that, in spite of their high-minded aims, they are pretty routine dramas with some painfully ordinary writing. Some good actors, including Paul Kelly, Luther Adler, Pat O'Brien, Vincent Price, Arthur Franz and Richard Denning, have struggled manfully with the roles of ministers, rabbis and priests on the program, but, possibly because of the limitations of the material, I have yet to see anything I'd call a memorable performance.

just precedes "Crossroads" (ABC-TV 8 p. m. EDT, Fridays). The stories so far have been confined to action in North Africa, and the tales range from run-of-mill war stuff to some wildly implausible adventures which will probably irritate a great many veterans of North Africa.

However, what sets this series apart—somebody really used the old bean here — are actual war shots which make up a large part of the program. You see those old Lockheed twin-tail fighters, Nazi Messerschmitts, and even Nazi dive-bombers which had become collector's items long before the war ended. Available are millions of feet of spectacular and authentic war footage, which no TV package producer could conceivably afford to shoot afresh. In fact, in one episode — after shooting down a half dozen German planes — the producers called in the British Mediteranean Fleet to finish off a convoy. You can't hardly buy that kind of action any more.

As for the story line which pieced together all this war footage, it looks as if it could have been shot in somebody's backyard for peanuts. The combat sergeant of the title is played with proper tight-lipped, dead-pan earnestness by Michael Thomas.

just precedes "Crossroads" (ABC-TV 8 p. m. EDT, Fridays). The stories so far have been confined to action in North Africa, and the tales range from run-of-mill war stuff to some wildly implausible adventures which will probably irritate a great many veterans of North Africa.

However, what sets this series apart—somebody really used the old bean here — are actual war shots which make up a large part of the program. You see those old Lockheed twin-tail fighters, Nazi Messerschmitts, and even Nazi dive-bombers which had become collector's items long before the war ended. Available are millions of feet of spectacular and authentic war footage, which no TV package producer could conceivably afford to shoot afresh. In fact, in one episode — after shooting down a half dozen German planes — the producers called in the British Mediteranean Fleet to finish off a convoy. You can't hardly buy that kind of action any more.

As for the story line which pieced together all this war footage, it looks as if it could have been shot in somebody's backyard for peanuts. The combat sergeant of the title is played with proper tight-lipped, dead-pan earnestness by Michael Thomas.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, Oliver G. Aldridge, who passed away one year ago today, July 14, 1955.

The golden sun is shining
Upon our dear father's grave,
One we loved so dearly,
And tried so hard to save.
When we lost you dearest father,
We lost a wonderful pal,
We love you now and miss you,
More and more and ever shall.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, Oliver G. Aldridge, who passed away one year ago today, July 14, 1955.

The golden sun is shining
Upon our dear father's grave,
One we loved so dearly,
And tried so hard to save.
When we lost you dearest father,
We lost a wonderful pal,
We love you now and miss you,
More and more and ever shall.
Loving Wife and Children.

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Coppers, steels and selected issues paced the stock market to a smart recovery today from yesterday's mild decline.

Kennecott, the nation's biggest copper producer, raced ahead 4 points to 130.

The steels advanced as negotiations resumed but the strike situation still remained deadlocked. Bethlehem, the No. 2 steelmaker, gained 2¾ to close at 159¼.

Trading still remained fairly quiet at 2,020,000 shares compared with 2,180,000 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.30 to $187.80.

The most active stock was General Motors, unchanged at 47 on 26,900 shares. Second was Raytheon, up ¼ at 14 on 25,100. Third was U. S. Pipe and Foundry, up 1¼ at 30⅝ on 22,000.

Next came U. S. Steel, up ¾ at 60½ and Standard Oil (New Jersey), off ⅛ at 58⅜.

Among the coppers, Anaconda rose 1½ to 77¼ and won rating as the day's 14th most active stock. American Smelting rose a point, Phelps Dodge 1⅛ and International Nickel ¼.

There were some fair gains in chemicals. High-priced DuPont added 3¼, Union Carbide was up 1⅛ and Allied Chemical 1¾.

Most leading rails were up a bit. Illinois Central's gain of a point was about the best while New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio rose fractionally.

Oils showed some slight losses but Royal Dutch improved a fraction.

The Hots added two runs in the third and two more in the eighth.

Bill Scott, of the Times-News, third pitcher to see service for the losers, struck out the side in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

Zulueta Decisions Ludwig Lightburn

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Orlando Zulueta, a 3 to 1 underdog, used a flicking left jab to pile up points for a surprise unanimous decision over Ludwig Lightburn of British Honduras in a 10-round match tonight at Madison Square Garden. Lightburn weighed 138, Zulueta 136¼.

Zulueta, 28-year-old Cuban boxer, benefited by the ruling of Referee Pete Scalzo who gave him the seventh round as a penalty for Lightburn's low blow. The ruling probably cost Lightburn a draw for it appeared at ringside that he would have won the seventh if not penalized.

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) —Coppers, steels and selected issues paced the stock market to a smart recovery today from yesterday's mild decline.

Pivotal stocks closed higher by fractions to around 4 points.

Kennecott, the nation's biggest copper producer, raced ahead 4 points to 130.

The steels advanced as negotiations resumed but the strike situation still remained deadlocked. Bethlehem, the No. 2 steelmaker, gained 2¾ to close at 159¼.

Trading still remained fairly quiet at 2,020,000 shares compared with 2,180,000 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.30 to $187.80.

The most active stock was General Motors, unchanged at 47 on 26,900 shares. Second was Raytheon, up ¼ at 14 on 25,100. Third was U. S. Pipe and Foundry, up 1¼ at 30⅝ on 22,000.

Next came U. S. Steel, up ¾ at 60½ and Standard Oil (New Jersey), off ⅛ at 58⅜.

Georgia - Pacific was the ninth most active stock, sprinting ahead 5½ to 70½.

Square "D" ran up a gain of 4¼ on its news of a proposed 3-for-1 stock split and a raised dividend.

Among the coppers, Anaconda rose 1½ to 77¼ and won rating as the day's 14th most active stock. American Smelting rose a point, Phelps Dodge 1⅛ and International Nickel ¼.

There were some fair gains in chemicals. High-priced DuPont added 3¼, Union Carbide was up 1⅛ and Allied Chemical 1¾.

Most leading rails were up a bit. Illinois Central's gain of a point was about the best while New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio rose fractionally.

Oils showed some slight losses but Royal Dutch improved a fraction.

Zulueta Decisions Ludwig Lightburn

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Orlando Zulueta, a 3 to 1 underdog, used a flicking left jab to pile up points for a surprise unanimous decision over Ludwig Lightburn of British Honduras in a 10-round match tonight at Madison Square Garden. Lightburn weighed 138, Zulueta 136¼.

Zulueta, 28-year-old Cuban boxer, benefited by the ruling of Referee Pete Scalzo who gave him the seventh round as a penalty for Lightburn's low blow. The ruling probably cost Lightburn a draw for it appeared at ringside that he would have won the seventh if not penalized.

Those who came early went to the Purple Heart Center on Greene Street, where a garden party was held last night.

This morning the delegates will get down to serious matters of the convention as they meet in business sessions.

At least three or more delegates from other units throughout the state will be seeking the office of state commander, now held by Carl W. Kuehne, of Baltimore.

A number of members of the local organization will also be seeking other state offices when the nomination of officers is held on Sunday about 11 a. m. at convention headquarters.

The Auxiliary unit also will have nomination of officers, an election and installation about the same time Sunday.

Most of the delegates are expected to arrive here this morning for the convention. Registration will be held at the hotel.

An executive meeting of the auxiliary was held last night and was presided over by Mrs. Alice E. Reilly of Baltimore, department auxiliary president. A highlight of the joint meeting this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, according to Mrs. Reilly, will be the introduction of guests from the auxiliaries of other veteran organizations.

These units, Mrs. Reilly said, have already indicated they will send representatives to the convention, while other groups indicated they also expect to be represented.

Guest of honor at the meeting will be Mrs. Regina McComb, Island Heights, N. J., national junior vice president of Zone 2, who has been endorsed by the Maryland Department Auxiliary for national senior vice president. Her name, Mrs. Reilly explained, will be submitted for consideration to that post at the national convention scheduled next month at Lakeland, Fla.

Another guest will be Mrs. Naomi Kuehne of Baltimore, a past department president, who has been endorsed by the state organization for the post now held by Mrs. McComb.

Mayor Roy W. Eves will welcome the Purple Heart and Auxiliary at the dinner, while additional guests will be introduced, Herbert McFarland, convention chairman, said.

Sunday's program will open with a joint memorial service at 9:30 a. m. The Purple Heart will be represented by Rev. Kenneth M. Kiwanis Sunshine Camp Will Serve 50 Children

This summer some 50 deserving youngsters from eight to 12 years of age, will be given an opportunity to enjoy camp life activities in a program at Kiwanis Sunshine Camp just off MacDonald Terrace.

Carl F. Schmutz, president of the board of governors of the local camp, announced yesterday that 25 boys are scheduled to attend camp for two weeks beginning July 30, while the 25 girls will be in camp for two weeks beginning August 13.

The children who will attend the camp are selected and screened by the Associated Charities office personnel here.

The camp is directed by Mr. and Mrs. William Donahue, who also serve as caretakers of the property, aided by four competent counselors.

Prior to going to camp, the youngsters will get a medical and dental checkup by Dr. Albert C. Cook, Dr. A.G.T. Twigg, Dr. W. Royce Hodges and Dr. A. J. Mirkin, all Kiwanis members.

Schmutz pointed out that the swimming pool and grounds have been greatly improved for the campers. Activities will include all phases of camp life, handicraft classes, as well as swimming.

Chairman, Baltimore Mayor In Discord

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Maryland Democrats are in a name-calling contest all on account of harmony.

Among other things, State Chairman T. Barton Harrington today called Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro "selfish, vindictive and disruptive."

The exchange was started yesterday by D'Alesandro. And it was over a so-called reconciliation movement. The mayor's complaint was that Harrington didn't want to reconcile.

The situation goes back to the party's convention in May. Although his man, Millard E. Tydings, won the Democratic nomination, D'Alesandro was among leaders unable to gain control of the convention.

Quarrel Over Delegates

Harrington, Michael J. Birmingham and J. Millard Tawes led a group which took over. Birmingham was elected national committeeman in place of D'Alesandro. The group also selected the delegation to the national convention and left off most of the leaders who had supported Tydings.

Since then, Birmingham and D'Alesandro talked over things. Birmingham said he would see that Philip J. Perlman would be put on the delegation and that he also would try for places for others of D'Alesandro's friends.

Harrington said it was all news to him.

This provoked D'Alesandro.

"We cannot expect victory for November if Mr. Harrington continues his 'dog in the manger' attitude. He caused this disruption, why doesn't he try to heal it?"

Harrington came back strong.

"Mr. D'Alesandro knows only one brand of harmony and that is punish and destroy those in his own party who do not bow at his command.

"The low estate to which the Democratic party has fallen in recent years in Maryland can be attributed, in great part, to the selfish, vindictive and disruptive tactics of Mr. D'Alesandro since he became mayor of Baltimore.

No Vacancy In Sight

"As state chairman, I regret that he, the superseded national committeeman and a member of the Maryland delegation, has brought discredit to the state, the party and himself by his publicity seeking outbursts, designed to promote his oft-expressed desire to be the next candidate for governor."

Harrington took a dim view of finding places on the national delegation for those left out.

"It is my duty to fill any vacancy in the Maryland delegation to the Democratic national convention," he stated. "No vacancy exists. I cannot create a vacancy."

Harrington added that it is D'Alesandro's own fault that his friends were by-passed at the state convention.

"Had Mr. D'Alesandro been less selfish and more conciliatory at the convention, had he appeared on the floor of the convention instead of hiding in a hotel room and then going to a baseball game, more of his associates would have secured membership in the delegation and probably a national committee post."

Sen. Della Heads Firm Building New ESB Office

Kimble Says Lease For 10 Years Signed

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—State Sen. George W. Della, Baltimore Democrat, heads a corporation which is building an office already leased by the Department of Employment Security in Towson.

Records of the transaction were reported today by the Baltimore Evening Sun and confirmed by Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the department.

Kimble said the board had signed a lease a few months ago with Della for $18,000 a year for 10 years. The building record shows it will cost $35,000.

The land for the building was bought April 10.

Kimble said the lease was signed by Della as president of the L. Hunt Realtors, Inc. No telephone is listed for the corporation and its address is recorded as the site of the building. No officers besides Della are listed.

Della's law office said he is out of town and will not be back until Monday.

Kimble said the leasing agreement was approved by the State Board of Public Works and the federal government which supplies the money for the department.

The Department of Employment Security was the subject of an official investigation last year on the orders of Gov. McKeldin after some questionable practices were disclosed by the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Among them was that some officials of the department had attempted to rent their property to the department.

Kimble resigned from the State Senate as Republican minority leaders from Allegany County to head the department at the request of the governor.

Kimble said the rental figure offered by Della was comparable or lower than for similar space in the Towson area.

Besides the Towson office, Kimble said others are being constructed for the agency in Cumberland, Silver Spring and Elkton.

John Dietrick, dairy specialist of the University of Maryland, will lead a discussion on the effectiveness of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and artificial breeding.

The Shumakers have a large dairy herd and are active in the association and in the artificial breeding program.

After leaving the farm, the dairymen will take a tour of the relatively new dairy plant at the Barton farm where they will be given an opportunity to see how milk is processed after it leaves the farm.

Driver Ditches Runaway Truck To Avert Crash

Brakes Fail, Rig Hits Utility Pole

A serious highway accident was averted early yesterday morning on U. S. 40 at the west slope of Polish Mountain when the driver of a huge runaway tractor-trailer steered the vehicle across the highway into a ditch and embankment. No one was injured.

Tft. Charles H. DeWitt said the accident occurred about 6:45 a. m. yesterday as the tractor-trailer, loaded with furniture, was descending the mountain.

It was being driven by James Carroway, about 27, of Washington, D. C. Also in the cab with Carroway was Sylvester Hazel, about 25, of Washington.

While descending the mountain, police said, the air went out on the braking system of the vehicle.

About $700 damage was done to the tractor, although the trailer and furniture were undamaged. The tractor or trailer did not upset.

The utility pole was not damaged in the mishap, according to Trooper DeWitt, who said Carroway told him that he had the tractor-trailer in low gear as he was descending the mountain.

Police said the vehicle traveled about 100 feet from the time the air went out.

The truckers are employes of the Weathers Brothers Transfer Company of Washington and the load of furniture was reportedly being taken to Ohio.

Additional Jobs Part Of Survey

Special questions, designed to provide information on the number of persons who have more than one job, will be asked in the July Current Population Survey, according to Edgar L. Bryan, supervisor of the Census Bureau's district office in Pittsburgh which will participate in the survey.

The special questions on secondary jobs will be in addition to the regular monthly inquiries on employment and unemployment.

Jaycees To Sponsor Country Music Event

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has voted to sponsor a country music festival as a money making project with profits to be used in a civic improvement program.

A decision on the festival sponsorship was made at the Jaycees' meeting Wednesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

A number of reports were received. Alvin Goodman was honored as the "Jaycee of the Month." William Russell, education committee chairman, said that applications for extension courses of the University of Maryland are still being received. Tentative plans call for a Jaycee picnic in August.

Speed, Recklessness Account For Most Driving Arrests In Western Maryland

Excessive speeding, reckless driving and improper passing on the highway were the three big reasons so many motorists and truck drivers were arrested in the four westernmost counties of the state during the first four months of 1956.

Throughout that period, according to a factual report of the Maryland State Police, there were 2,610 passenger car drivers arrested, 452 truckers and six bus drivers, as well as 24 other vehicle drivers.

"Commercial vehicle transportation of commodities and personnel has become a major factor in the traffic problem of today, and a major headache for our enforcement personnel," says Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

"In 1955 there were 38,217 motor vehicle accidents in the state of Maryland. Involved were 68,661 vehicles of all types. It is interesting to note that of this total, only 8,926 or 13 per cent, were commercial type vehicles.

"In spite of this fact, the trucks and buses, particularly those falling in the 'big fella' category, have a tremendous psychological effect upon the general motoring public. The result is constant criticism of the drivers and of enforcement officers.

"The truth is that owners of large trucks and large fleets of trucks are exacting in their demands that the State Police enforce the law against their drivers. The Maryland Motor Truck Association has asked for and is willing to pay for a copy of the trooper's motor vehicle arrest slip, so that the truck owners can take additional punitive action against their drivers through company discipline."

Other major violations include operator's license laws, failure to obey traffic control, registration violations, drunken driving, and failure to keep to the right of the center of the road.

Included in the report were arrests made in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties.

City Surplus Will Approach $85,000 Mark

Falls $20,000 Short Of 1955-56 Figure

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson yesterday estimated that the City of Cumberland will have a surplus ranging from $80,000 to $85,000 to begin the current fiscal year.

He pointed out, however, that this amount will fall about $20,000 short of the $105,000 which was on hand to begin the 1955-56 fiscal year.

The difference represents 2½ to three cents on the tax rate, based on last year's assessable base of $74,300,000 which brought revenue of $7,430 for each cent on the tax rate.

Revenues Are Up

Revenues of the city exceeded estimates by about $30,000 and expenditures were about $53,000 less than the amount appropriated for operating the various city departments.

There are a number of possibilities for making up the difference.

One bright spot in the picture is the amount which will be levied for the Health Department. The Mayor and Council have already voted to appropriate a $33,113.49 contribution for health under the Case formula adopted in Maryland.

Saves One Cent

Health items in last year's budget totaled $40,608, so that the saving will amount to about a cent on the tax rate.

Last year, the Mayor and Council set the tax rate at $1.50 to raise $1,128,500 of the all-time high levy of $1,595,630.

Debt service took 33.02 cents of the tax levy, and the other $1.11698 was used for general operating expenses of the city.

Playground Lists Activities

The program on Monday consists of softball games, kalah and checker tournaments, handicrafts and blacktop games.

On Tuesday there will be softball games, the southern division kalah and checker tournament finals will be played, and there will be a "you guess it" show, and movies in the evening.

Finalists in the kalah and checker tournaments will compete in the city championships on Wednesday at the northern grounds. There will also be handicrafts at the playlot.

A costume show will be held Thursday, quiet games will be played and movies will be shown in the evening.

The playground will be closed Friday morning but there will be story-telling, blacktop games and handicrafts in the afternoon.

Banquet, Dance Slated Tonight

Delegates to the 15th annual state convention of the Department of Maryland, Military Order of the Purple Heart, were arriving in Cumberland yesterday afternoon and evening and registering at the Algonquin Hotel, convention headquarters.

Those who came early went to the Purple Heart Center on Greene Street, where a garden party was held last night.

This morning the delegates will get down to serious matters of the convention as they meet in business sessions.

At least three or more delegates from other units throughout the state will be seeking the office of state commander, now held by Carl W. Kuehne, of Baltimore.

A number of members of the local organization will also be seeking other state offices when the nomination of officers is held on Sunday about 11 a. m. at convention headquarters.

Afternoon Election

The election will be conducted early in the afternoon and the installation of officers will be held about 4:30 p. m. as one of the closing events of the conclave.

The Auxiliary unit also will have nomination of officers, an election and installation about the same time Sunday.

Most of the delegates are expected to arrive here this morning for the convention. Registration will be held at the hotel.

An executive meeting of the auxiliary was held last night and was presided over by Mrs. Alice E. Reilly of Baltimore, department auxiliary president. A highlight of the joint meeting this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock, according to Mrs. Reilly, will be the introduction of guests from the auxiliaries of other veteran organizations.

Organizations Listed

Among the organizations expected to be represented at the session are the auxiliaries of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Marine Corps League, Disabled American Veterans, Jewish War Veterans, Catholic War Veterans, 29th Division Association, Gold Star Mothers, Navy Mothers Club, Veterans of World War I, Service Star Legion and Star Spangled Banner Flag House Association. These units, Mrs. Reilly said, have already indicated they will send representatives to the convention, while other groups indicated they also expect to be represented.

Guest of honor at the meeting will be Mrs. Regina McComb, Island Heights, N. J., national junior vice president of Zone 2, who has been endorsed by the Maryland Department Auxiliary for national senior vice president. Her name, Mrs. Reilly explained, will be submitted for consideration to that post at the national convention scheduled next month at Lakeland, Fla.

Another guest will be Mrs. Naomi Kuehne of Baltimore, a past department president, who has been endorsed by the state organization for the post now held by Mrs. McComb.

Dinner, Dance Planned

Convention activities today include an executive meeting by the parent organization at 9 a. m., separate business meetings at 10 a. m., the joint meeting at 1:15 p. m., sightseeing and entertainment at 2:30 p. m., cocktails and refreshments from 6 to 7 p. m. and the dinner and dance at the Fort Cumberland ballroom at 7:30 p. m.

Mayor Roy W. Eves will welcome the Purple Heart and Auxiliary at the dinner, while additional guests will be introduced, Herbert McFarland, convention chairman, said.

Sunday's program will open with a joint memorial service at 9:30 a. m. The Purple Heart will be represented by Rev. Kenneth M. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church, and the auxiliary by Mrs. Lula Hopkins, department auxiliary chaplain. McFarland said Rev. Mr. Grove is substituting for Harry H. Dietz, department chaplain who is unable to attend due to illness.

Local Church To Show Africa Mission Slides

Color slides of the Belgian Congo in Africa, showing missionary work and other aspects of life there, will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the evening worship of Trinity Methodist Church.

Rev. Louis P. Chastain, pastor, said the slides are being donated to the church by Mr. and Mrs. William R. Harvey, Barton, of Johnson Memorial Methodist Church and were taken by their son, William Jr., who is director of the Kapanga Mission School in the Congo.

An offering will be taken after the program for a dormitory building project at the Kapanga Mission, Rev. Chastain said.

Harvey was graduated from East High School, Huntington, W. Va., and Western Maryland College, Westminster. He is a three-year missionary and will return to the United States in 1957.

Kiwanis Sunshine Camp Will Serve 50 Children

This summer some 50 deserving youngsters from eight to 12 years of age, will be given an opportunity to enjoy camp life activities in a program at Kiwanis Sunshine Camp just off MacDonald Terrace.

Carl F. Schmutz, president of the board of governors of the local camp, announced yesterday that 25 boys are scheduled to attend camp for two weeks beginning July 30, while the 25 girls will be in camp for two weeks beginning August 13.

The children who will attend the camp are selected and screened by the Associated Charities office personnel here.

The camp is directed by Mr. and Mrs. William Donahue, who also serve as caretakers of the property, aided by four competent counselors.

Prior to going to camp, the youngsters will get a medical and dental checkup by Dr. Albert C. Cook, Dr. A.G.T. Twigg, Dr. W. Royce Hodges and Dr. A. J. Mirkin, all Kiwanis members.

Schmutz pointed out that the swimming pool and grounds have been greatly improved for the campers. Activities will include all phases of camp life, handicraft classes, as well as swimming.

Members of the Kiwanis Club will hold regular dinner meetings at the camp while the children are there. Instead of meeting at Central YMCA as usual, the Kiwanians will meet on Thursday, August 9, at 12:15 p. m., and also at the same time on August 23 at the camp.

Formerly the camp was the Haystack Sanatorium which was used until the early 1930s for treatment of tuberculosis. It has been used about 13 years by the Kiwanians as a site for the Sunshine Camp.

Helmrich is chairman of the grounds and buildings; John L. Ort, chairman of camp operation; Dr. Mirkin and Dr. Twigg, welfare; Bishop, finance, and Harry G. Grimes, chairman of transportation.

Some 1,200 boys and girls—12 to 21 years old—are expected to register Monday, August 6, in the University Armory, headquarters for the week's group activities.

During this annual meeting of 4-H members from over the state, classes are scheduled in such subjects as dairy management, livestock, poultry, machinery care, electrical know-how, exploring the insect world, sewing, clothes storage, foods, leadership, safety, personalities in dating, and citizenship.

One of the cows was artificially bred. The highest producer of the first ten cows in the association was No. 51-B4006, a grade Holstein, which produced 91 pounds of butterfat from 1,970 pounds of milk.

Second place winner was Gundel Matchless Echo, (artificial) a registered Holstein, which produced 90 pounds of butterfat from 2,140 pounds of milk. No. 140828, a grade Holstein, produced 87 pounds of butterfat from 2,060 pounds of milk.

Chairman, Baltimore Mayor In Discord

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Maryland Democrats are in a name-calling contest all on account of harmony.

Among other things, State Chairman T. Barton Harrington today called Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro "selfish, vindictive and disruptive."

The exchange was started yesterday by D'Alesandro. And it was over a so-called reconciliation movement. The mayor's complaint was that Harrington didn't want to reconcile.

The situation goes back to the party's convention in May. Although his man, Millard E. Tydings, won the Democratic nomination, D'Alesandro was among leaders unable to gain control of the convention.

Quarrel Over Delegates

Harrington, Michael J. Birmingham and J. Millard Tawes led a group which took over. Birmingham was elected national committeeman in place of D'Alesandro. The group also selected the delegation to the national convention and left off most of the leaders who had supported Tydings.

Since then, Birmingham and D'Alesandro talked over things. Birmingham said he would see that Philip J. Perlman would be put on the delegation and that he also would try for places for others of D'Alesandro's friends.

Harrington said it was all news to him.

This provoked D'Alesandro.

"We cannot expect victory for November if Mr. Harrington continues his 'dog in the manger' attitude. He caused this disruption, why doesn't he try to heal it?"

Harrington came back strong.

"Mr. D'Alesandro knows only one brand of harmony and that is punish and destroy those in his own party who do not bow at his command.

"The low estate to which the Democratic party has fallen in recent years in Maryland can be attributed, in great part, to the selfish, vindictive and disruptive tactics of Mr. D'Alesandro since he became mayor of Baltimore.

No Vacancy In Sight

"As state chairman, I regret that he, the superseded national committeeman and a member of the Maryland delegation, has brought discredit to the state, the party and himself by his publicity seeking outbursts, designed to promote his oft-expressed desire to be the next candidate for governor."

Harrington took a dim view of finding places on the national delegation for those left out.

"It is my duty to fill any vacancy in the Maryland delegation to the Democratic national convention," he stated. "No vacancy exists. I cannot create a vacancy."

Harrington added that it is D'Alesandro's own fault that his friends were by-passed at the state convention.

"Had Mr. D'Alesandro been less selfish and more conciliatory at the convention, had he appeared on the floor of the convention instead of hiding in a hotel room and then going to a baseball game, more of his associates would have secured membership in the delegation and probably a national committee post."

Sen. Della Heads Firm Building New ESB Office

Kimble Says Lease For 10 Years Signed

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—State Sen. George W. Della, Baltimore Democrat, heads a corporation which is building an office already leased by the Department of Employment Security in Towson.

Records of the transaction were reported today by the Baltimore Evening Sun and confirmed by Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the department.

Kimble said the board had signed a lease a few months ago with Della for $18,000 a year for 10 years. The building record shows it will cost $35,000.

The land for the building was bought April 10.

Kimble said the lease was signed by Della as president of the L. Hunt Realtors, Inc. No telephone is listed for the corporation and its address is recorded as the site of the building. No officers besides Della are listed.

Della's law office said he is out of town and will not be back until Monday.

Kimble said the leasing agreement was approved by the State Board of Public Works and the federal government which supplies the money for the department.

The Department of Employment Security was the subject of an official investigation last year on the orders of Gov. McKeldin after some questionable practices were disclosed by the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Among them was that some officials of the department had attempted to rent their property to the department.

Kimble resigned from the State Senate as Republican minority leaders from Allegany County to head the department at the request of the governor.

Kimble said the rental figure offered by Della was comparable or lower than for similar space in the Towson area.

Besides the Towson office, Kimble said others are being constructed for the agency in Cumberland, Silver Spring and Elkton.

Dairymen Plan Tour Of Two Modern Farms

Dairymen of Allegany County will be given an opportunity to tour the dairy farms of William and Granville Shumaker, Rawlings, and Harry J. Barton, of Pinto, Thursday, July 26, at 7 p. m.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, announced yesterday that there will be many interesting dairy subjects to see and discuss on the tour.

The Shumakers are now using a forage harvester and have an electric hay dryer in their barn. Martin Gordon, soil conservation aide of the Soil Conservation Service, has been invited to attend the meeting and discuss conservation practices.

John Dietrick, dairy specialist of the University of Maryland, will lead a discussion on the effectiveness of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and artificial breeding.

The Shumakers have a large dairy herd and are active in the association and in the artificial breeding program.

After leaving the farm, the dairymen will take a tour of the relatively new dairy plant at the Barton farm where they will be given an opportunity to see how milk is processed after it leaves the farm.

An alfalfa plot demonstration is located on the Shumaker farm and will consist of the following varieties: Grimm, Narragansett, Kansas Common, Williamsburg, Ranger, Buffalo and Atlantic, which were planted in 1952.

June Rains Boost Flow Of Potomac

The observed mean daily flow at the Wiley Ford gage during June was 1,283 cubic feet per second (829 million gallons per day), which is 149 per cent of the 27-year June average. The daily flow varied between 3,530 cfs (2,281 mgd) on June 3, and 582 cfs (376 mgd) on June 13.

A slight decrease in storage in the Savage River Dam caused an average increase of 1.4 cfs (0.9 mgd), a negliigible percentage of the flow in the North Branch at Cumberland.

The total precipitation at Cumberland, as reported by the Weather Bureau was 6.47 inches, 2.59 inches above the June average. The average daily temperature was 69.5 degrees, which was 1.4 degrees below normal, according to Ewell H. Hohler Jr., engineer in charge.

Driver Ditches Runaway Truck To Avert Crash

Brakes Fail, Rig Hits Utility Pole

A serious highway accident was averted early yesterday morning on U. S. 40 at the west slope of Polish Mountain when the driver of a huge runaway tractor-trailer steered the vehicle across the highway into a ditch and embankment. No one was injured.

Tft. Charles H. DeWitt said the accident occurred about 6:45 a. m. yesterday as the tractor-trailer, loaded with furniture, was descending the mountain.

It was being driven by James Carroway, about 27, of Washington, D. C. Also in the cab with Carroway was Sylvester Hazel, about 25, of Washington.

While descending the mountain, police said, the air went out on the braking system of the vehicle.

About $700 damage was done to the tractor, although the trailer and furniture were undamaged. The tractor or trailer did not upset.

The utility pole was not damaged in the mishap, according to Trooper DeWitt, who said Carroway told him that he had the tractor-trailer in low gear as he was descending the mountain.

Police said the vehicle traveled about 100 feet from the time the air went out.

The truckers are employes of the Weathers Brothers Transfer Company of Washington and the load of furniture was reportedly being taken to Ohio.

Jaycees To Sponsor Country Music Event

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has voted to sponsor a country music festival as a money making project with profits to be used in a civic improvement program.

A decision on the festival sponsorship was made at the Jaycees' meeting Wednesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

A number of reports were received. Alvin Goodman was honored as the "Jaycee of the Month." William Russell, education committee chairman, said that applications for extension courses of the University of Maryland are still being received. Tentative plans call for a Jaycee picnic in August.

Speed, Recklessness Account For Most Driving Arrests In Western Maryland

Excessive speeding, reckless driving and improper passing on the highway were the three big reasons so many motorists and truck drivers were arrested in the four westernmost counties of the state during the first four months of 1956.

Throughout that period, according to a factual report of the Maryland State Police, there were 2,610 passenger car drivers arrested, 452 truckers and six bus drivers, as well as 24 other vehicle drivers.

"Commercial vehicle transportation of commodities and personnel has become a major factor in the traffic problem of today, and a major headache for our enforcement personnel," says Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

"In 1955 there were 38,217 motor vehicle accidents in the state of Maryland. Involved were 68,661 vehicles of all types. It is interesting to note that of this total, only 8,926 or 13 per cent, were commercial type vehicles.

"In spite of this fact, the trucks and buses, particularly those falling in the 'big fella' category, have a tremendous psychological effect upon the general motoring public. The result is constant criticism of the drivers and of enforcement officers.

"The truth is that owners of large trucks and large fleets of trucks are exacting in their demands that the State Police enforce the law against their drivers. The Maryland Motor Truck Association has asked for and is willing to pay for a copy of the trooper's motor vehicle arrest slip, so that the truck owners can take additional punitive action against their drivers through company discipline."

Other major violations include operator's license laws, failure to obey traffic control, registration violations, drunken driving, and failure to keep to the right of the center of the road.

Included in the report were arrests made in Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties.

City Surplus Will Approach $85,000 Mark

Falls $20,000 Short Of 1955-56 Figure

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson yesterday estimated that the City of Cumberland will have a surplus ranging from $80,000 to $85,000 to begin the current fiscal year.

He pointed out, however, that this amount will fall about $20,000 short of the $105,000 which was on hand to begin the 1955-56 fiscal year.

The difference represents 2½ to three cents on the tax rate, based on last year's assessable base of $74,300,000 which brought revenue of $7,430 for each cent on the tax rate.

Revenues Are Up

Revenues of the city exceeded estimates by about $30,000 and expenditures were about $53,000 less than the amount appropriated for operating the various city departments.

There are a number of possibilities for making up the difference.

A second would be to make economies in operations of city departments, or to curtail services normally provided by the city.

One bright spot in the picture is the amount which will be levied for the Health Department. The Mayor and Council have already voted to appropriate a $33,113.49 contribution for health under the Case formula adopted in Maryland.

Saves One Cent

Health items in last year's budget totaled $40,608, so that the saving will amount to about a cent on the tax rate.

Last year, the Mayor and Council set the tax rate at $1.50 to raise $1,128,500 of the all-time high levy of $1,595,630.

Debt service took 33.02 cents of the tax levy, and the other $1.11698 was used for general operating expenses of the city.

Playground Lists Activities
